Before getting out of high school, Marv volunteered and enlisted in the US Navy where he served twenty years on active duty in the naval intelligence and cryptology community. After receiving a "field commission" for his leadership and management talents and upon returning to Idaho, Marv brought those proven skills he learned as a "Navy Mustang" and put them to work in the private sector. Marv managed business operations profit and loss for 2 different international companies and grew one from $7 million to $100 million per year, the other from startup to $3 million per year under his watch. He has negotiated and closed international business contracts valued over $200 million and is credited with three U.S. Patents in the creation of a special plasma for semiconductor manufacturing. Marv brings not only his strong work ethic to the table but years of technical, management and leadership experience building and maintaining relationships.

As a 6 year conservative member of the Idaho House of Representatives, Marv served on the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, Transportation and Defense, Resources and Conservation and Business committees. He has now served in the Idaho Senate for 4 years on the Health and Welfare, Judiciary and Rules, Transportation and Natural Resources Committees. He also brokered the deal to bring the Idaho College of Osteopathic Medicine investment to the Treasure Valley.

Marv and his wife Patty make their home in Legislative District 14, in Western Ada County. He is the father of two children, John who served in the Army and Navy in both Iraq and Afghanistan for 31 months and Kristin who he commissioned as a Navy Ensign. Both then followed their father's footsteps serving their Nation in the Navy in various intelligence positions. In his spare time, Marv is an avid outdoorsman and maintains an active role in many sportsman organizations across Idaho. He is a life member of the Disabled Veterans Association, Life member of the NRA and North American Fishing Assoc. and a long time member of the American Legion Post 113.

He is a co-founder of the Wyakin Warrior Foundation that developed and operates the Academy for Wounded Warriors. This is a multi-tiered mentorship, professional development and education program supporting America's wounded warriors. This program sponsors our nation's heroes to attend college and specialized leadership development programs at various colleges and universities while assisting them in their transition from military duty to becoming community leaders in the private sector. The USO has named the Wyakin Warrior Foundation "Best in Class" of all its national programs.
