I am grateful to all who have contributed to this publication and I sincerely invite your suggestions for improvement of future editions.

Respectfully submitted,

BEN YSURSA
Secretary of State

Pete T. Cenarrusa

Born in Carey, Idaho December 16, 1917 to Joe and Ramona Cenarrusa, immigrants from the Basque Country of northern Spain; graduated from the University of Idaho with B.S. in Agriculture. Elected State Representative in 1950, served 9 terms, 3 terms as Speaker of the House. Appointed May 1, 1967 as Secretary of State, elected in 1970 and reelected in 1974, 1978, 1982, 1986, 1990, 1994 and 1998. Lifetime farmer, rancher, woolgrower and has championed agriculture in all facets of government. Member of Catholic church, Elks, Euzkaldunak and Tau Kappa Epsilon. Idaho Chairman, Citizens for America and Reagan-Bush '84. Pilot with over 59 years without an accident and over 15,000 hours of flying. Member of U of I 1940 Intercollegiate National Championship Boxing Team. Served as constitutionally elected state official with combined service in the legislature and executive branch under the capitol dome longer than any person in the history of the state of Idaho, having served continuously over 52 years. Associated with family livestock operation. Married to Freda Coates for over fifty years, their beloved son Joe died in an airplane crash in 1997.

As I contemplated to whom this Blue Book should be dedicated only one person came to mind -- Pete T. Cenarrusa. Pete served the citizens of Idaho for a record fifty-two years as an Idaho State Representative, Speaker of the House, and Secretary of State. Any dedication to Pete would be incomplete without acknowledging the ardent and constant support of his wife Freda. Pete, a successful rancher, will long be remembered as a leader of Idaho's Basque community.

He is the epitome of a true public servant, and is respected and admired by all Idahoans for his integrity and passionate devotion to making government more accessible and responsive to citizen's needs.

It is my honor and privilege to dedicate this seventeenth edition of the Idaho Blue Book to Pete T. Cenarrusa

PREFACE

The Idaho Blue Book is a publication which serves as a biennial manual of information on our state and its government, both past and present. This 17th edition details the structure of federal, state and county government in Idaho and includes biographies of the elected officials. The 2003-2004 edition also contains historical and statistical information about Idaho, as well as information about the state's economy and people. The book is distributed free to all schools and libraries in the state upon request.

The Blue Book received its name not from the color of its cover but rather by definition of content. Bartlett's Dictionary of Americanisms defines the term Blue Book as "a printed book containing the names of all persons holding office under the Government of the United States. It answers the Red Book of England." Individual states have taken this concept and expanded it to include a wealth of information about state officials and resources as well as statistical and historical profiles.

This office has striven for the greatest accuracy possible with this type of publication; however, because of the constant changes in appointments, some information contained within the section on Governor's Appointments is out of date even as this book is being printed.

I would like to thank the many individuals, including state, federal and local government officials, whose assistance helped make the 2003-2004 edition possible. My special thanks go to Miren Artiach for her diligence in providing the most accurate information on appointments to boards and commissions and to those who provided photo contributions. I hope that the readers will find the Idaho Blue Book to be an interesting and useful reference on the State of Idaho.

Climate

Idaho's climate is diverse. It is influenced by Pacific weather patterns, which help moderate temperature extremes. Generally, the northern part of the state has greater precipitation than either southwestern or southeastern Idaho. The southern part of the state has warmer summer temperatures than the north and is drier throughout the year. Southeastern Idaho, however, tends to be cooler than the west and drier than the north. Idaho's growing season varies from about 200 days near the city of Lewiston to very brief at high altitudes. Idaho has no hurricanes, and tornadoes are extremely rare. Winds may accompany cold fronts and thunderstorms, but hail damage in the state is very small compared to that which occurs in the central United States. Geographically representative climate examples are:

Automobile License Plates

The state of Idaho issued its first plates in 1913, with the price determined by the value of the vehicle. There were only 2,083 plates issued that year (each vehicle receiving a single plate). Motorcycles were not issued an actual license plate. Instead, the owners simply painted their registry number, state, and year of manufacture on the rear mud guard. In 1917, motorcyclists received their first actual motorcycle plates. Back then, if a license plate was lost, the motorist could purchase a blank replacement plate that was flat where the numbers would typically be embossed. The owner could then hand paint the license plate number in the flat area. Perhaps that is where Idaho's creative license plate designs first began. Idaho has a long history of creative plate designs, in fact, it pioneered the concept. In 1928, Idaho became the first state in the nation to feature a graphic on a license plate by proudly displaying an impressive Idaho potato that filled the entire plate. The 1940 plate commemorated 50 YEARS OF STATEHOOD, and from 1941 to 1946 the words SCENIC IDAHO appeared on Idaho plates. 1947 plates proclaimed the state a VACATION WONDERLAND! The 1948 plate highlighted our most famous product as WORLD FAMOUS POTATOES. In 1953 and 1956, the slogan was modified to read WORLD FAMOUS POTATO, but was shortened to FAMOUS POTATOES in 1957. Displaying Idaho's passion for the outdoors, and skiing in particular, the 1947 plate featured a ski jumper. But in 1948 and 1949, the famous potato returned, this time in the form of a decal, complete with a pat of butter. From 1958 through 1968 the plates alternated between a green background with white letters to a white background with green letters. From 1968 through 1990, the standard plate format had a white background with green lettering. The award-winning 1991 issue (a modification of the optional Centennial plate) really showed the capabilities of modern vinyl graphic technique, featuring a panoramic scene of pine trees and mountains under a blazing red Idaho sky. The following types of license plates are available in Idaho: Agriculture, Appaloosa, Capitol Restoration, Centennial, Classic, Collegiate, Corvette, Famous Potatoes, FireFighter, Lewis and Clark, Medal of Honor, National Guard, Old Timer, Peace Officer, Purple Heart, Sawtooth, Snowmobile, Snowskier, Timber, Veteran, Wildlife - Bluebird, Wildlife - Cutthroat, Wildlife - Elk, Year of Manufacture and Youth.

State Song

The music for the Idaho state song, composed by Sallie Hume Douglas, was copyrighted on November 4, 1915, under the title "Garden of Paradise." In 1917, McKinley Helm, a student at the University of Idaho, wrote the verse which became the chorus of the Idaho State song, and Alice Bessee set the words to the music. The song was popular then, and Alice Bessee had no idea of its origin. This song won the annual University prize for that year, and eventually became the University alma mater. Albert J. Tompkins, Director of Music in the Boise Public Schools, wrote a set of verses for the song. In 1931, the Idaho legislature designated "Here We Have Idaho" previously known at the University of Idaho as "Our Idaho" as the Idaho state song.

HERE WE HAVE IDAHO

Official Idaho State Song by Enactment of Twenty-first Session of Idaho Legislature.

Verses by Albert J. Tompkins

Chorus by McKinley Helm

Music by Sallie Hume-Douglas

The musical score is written for voice and piano. It begins with a key signature of one flat (B-flat) and a 4/4 time signature. The melody is written on a single staff with a treble clef, and the piano accompaniment is written on two staves with a grand staff (treble and bass clefs). The lyrics are placed below the vocal line. The score includes a full chorus and a bridge section.

You've heard of the wonders our land does possess Its beau-ti-ful val-leys and hills — The There's truly one state in this great land of ours Where i-deals can be re-a-lized — The ma-jes-tic for-ests where nature a-bounds We love every nook and rill pi-o-neers made it so for you and me A le-ga-cy we'll al-ways prize

And here we have I-da-ho — Winning her way to fame — Sil-ver and gold in the sun-light blaze, And ro-mance lies in her name. — Sing-ing we're singing of you, Ah, proud-ly too,

All our lives thru, we'll go Sing-ing, sing-ing of you, Sing-ing of I-da-ho —

You've heard of the wonders our land does possess
It's beautiful valleys and hills;
The majestic forests where nature abounds,
We love every nook and rill.
There's truly one state in this great land of ours,
Where ideals can be realized;
The pioneers made it so for you and me,
A legacy we'll always prize.

CHORUS

And here we have Idaho,
Winning her way to fame;
Silver and gold in the sunlight blaze,
And romance lies in her name;

Singing, we're singing of you,
Ah, proudly, too, All our lives thru,
We'll go singing, singing of you,
Singing of Idaho.

Idaho State Emblems

State Bird

The Mountain Bluebird (Sialia arctica) was adopted as the state bird for Idaho by the legislature in 1931. The Bluebird is 6 to 7 inches long and is a member of the Thrush family. Male Bluebirds are a pale sky blue over most of their body, darker on their back. Females are blue-grey with blue wings and tail, duller than the male. Juvenile birds have blue wings with the tail area duller than the adult male, a white eye ring and spotted underparts. Mountain Bluebirds live in open grasslands and nest in holes in trees, crevices and nesting boxes. They have a zig-zagging flight pattern that easily identifies them.

State Dance

The 1989 legislature designated the square dance as the American Folk Dance of Idaho. Two of the most commonly cited ancestors to modern square dance are the English Morris dance and the French Quadrille. It is the Quadrille that most point to as the grand-daddy of our modern square dance. One of the earliest records of this type of dance in America is contained in the works of John Playford, a musician and dancing master. His book, "The English Dancing Master - Plaine and Easy Rules for the Dancing of Country Dances, with Tunes to Each Dance" was published in seventeen editions between 1650 and 1728 and contained 918 dances. As the pioneers moved westward, many of the dances were lost or forgotten, but many were preserved, particularly in the southern Appalachians where the running set established itself as one of the deep taproots of western square dance. The running set even had a caller -- America's only unique contribution to the square dance.

State Fish

The Cutthroat Trout was designated the state fish by the 1990 legislature. The Cutthroat, along with the Rainbow and Bull Trout, is native to Idaho. The body color varies with the back ranging from steel gray to olive green. The sides may be yellow brown with red or pink along the belly. The Cutthroat name comes from the distinctive red to orange slash on the underside of its lower jaw. The scientific name for Cutthroat Trout, Oncorhynchus clarki, is in reference to William Clark who first described in detail the Cutthroats of the Columbia River. His partner Meriwether Lewis earlier encountered Cutthroats near the great falls of Montana's Missouri River in July of 1805. Cutthroat species found in Idaho are the Westslope Cutthroat which is found in northern and central Idaho and the Yellowstone Cutthroat which is found in southeastern Idaho.

State Flag

A silk flag, with a blue field, 5 feet 6 inches fly, 4 feet 4 inches on pike is bordered by gilt fringe 2 ½ inches wide, with the Great Seal of Idaho in the center. The words "State of Idaho" are embroidered in gold block letters two inches high on a red band below the Great Seal. Adopted by the 1907 legislature.

State Flower

The Syringa (Philadelphus lewisii) was designated the state flower of Idaho by the legislature in 1931. The species name honors Meriwether Lewis of the Lewis & Clark expedition. Lewis wrote of the plant in his journal. It is a branching shrub growing 3 to 10 feet tall, with clusters of white, fragrant flowers. The blossoms are similar to the mock orange. It grows in open coniferous forests, at forest edge and in moist draws in drier regions providing good coverage for wildlife. Native Americans used its branches for bows, arrows and cradles.

State Fossil

The 1988 legislature designated the Hagerman Horse Fossil as the official state fossil. Originally described as Plesippus shoshonensis, subsequent research found that the Hagerman horse is the same as a previously described species and it is now known as Equus simplicidens, making it the earliest-known representative of the modern horse genus Equus. It is now believed to be more closely related to the living Grevy's Zebra in Africa than to horses. A rich fossil bed 3.5 million years old, which has yielded over 130 complete horse skeletons, was discovered in the 1920s near Hagerman and is said to be the best known Pleistocene-epoch fossil site in the world.

State Fruit

Several huckleberry species are native to Idaho, all belonging to genus Vaccinium section Myrtilus. The most common and popular is the black or thin-leaved huckleberry (Vaccinium membranaceum). Plants grow slowly, taking up to 15 years to reach full maturity. Black huckleberries produce single plump, dark purple berries in the axils of leaves on new shoots.

They depend on an insulating cover of snow for survival during winter and have not been successfully grown commercially. Black huckleberries grow at elevations between 2,000 and 11,000 feet with many productive colonies between 4,000 and 6,000 feet. Black huckleberries usually grow from 1 to 6 feet tall and produce berries up to 1/2 inch in diameter. Huckleberries are a favorite food of bears.

State Gem

Adopted by the 1967 legislature, the Idaho Star Garnet is known worldwide by collectors. Garnets are complex silicates, related to Quartz, and found almost exclusively in Idaho in Latah and Benewah counties. Star Garnets are a natural stone, not synthetically produced. Star Garnets are more rare than either Star Rubies or Star Sapphires. Normally the star in the Idaho Garnet has four rays, but occasionally one has six rays as in a Sapphire. The color is usually dark purple or plum and the star seems to glide or float across the dark surface. The star is caused by intrusions of the mineral rutile.

State Horse

Historians believe the Nez Perce and Palouse tribes of Washington, Oregon and Idaho were the first tribes to breed horses for specific traits - intelligence, speed and endurance. White settlers call these horses "Palouse horses." Over time they came to be referred to as "a Palousey" and the "Appalousey." During the Nez Perce War of 1877, Appaloosa horses helped the non-treaty Nez Perce, under the guidance of Chief Joseph, elude the U.S. Cavalry for several months. The coloring of the Appaloosa coat is distinct in every individual horse and ranges from white blanketed hips to a full leopard. Adopted by the 1975 legislature.

State Insect

The Monarch Butterfly (Danaus plexippus) was adopted as the state insect by the state legislature in 1992. Early settlers to North America from Europe, particularly those from Holland and England, named the butterfly "Monarch," after King William, Prince of Orange, stateholder of Holland and later named King of England. The monarchs' color suggested the name. The Monarch Butterfly is a great migrator, traveling many miles during its lifetime, which can be from a few weeks up to a year. Monarchs range in mass from .25 to .75 grams (a dime has a mass of 2.3 grams). Males are usually larger than females. Female Monarchs lay eggs on the underside of milkweed plants. The larvae then feed on the plants. Monarchs go through a complete metamorphosis in 3 to 6 weeks.

State Vegetable

Idaho's unique environment provides nearly perfect growing conditions for potatoes. The soil, water, clean air and climate in Idaho contribute to those consistently high-quality potatoes that have made Idaho famous for so many years. Idaho's rich volcanic soil is ideally suited for potatoes. Warm, sunny days, cool nights and water from melting snow in nearby mountains make the perfect combination for growing the world's best potatoes.

State Tree

The Western White Pine (Pinus Monticola pinaceae), our state tree, is probably most notable since the largest remaining volume of this timber in the United States grows in the northern part of Idaho. White Pine has many fine qualities such as straight grain and soft even texture. Idaho's state tree grows to 175 feet with a trunk diameter from 5 to 8 feet. The largest western white pine in the world stands 219 ft. high near Elk River, Idaho. Adopted by the 1935 legislature. According to the legislative bill, it was promoted by "members of Ellen Wright Camp, Franklin County Chapter, Daughters of Pioneers."

History of the Great Seal of the State

*Original
Great Seal
Painting by Emma
Edwards
Green*

One of the most beautiful and impressive state seals, the original painting is held in trust by the Idaho State Historical Society.

Seal for Idaho Territory 1863

No official record remains of the adoption of the first Great Seal of Idaho when it became a territory in 1863. The design is attributed to Silas D. Cochran, a clerk in the office of the Secretary of State.

Idaho's Final Seal Before Statehood 1890

Dissatisfaction with the official seal caused Governor Caleb Lyon to present a seal of his own design which was accepted by the Idaho Territorial Legislature on January 11, 1866. This, too, was controversial and was redrawn several times. Nevertheless, it was used until Idaho became a state in 1890.

State Seal Now in Use

In 1957, the thirty-fourth session of the Idaho legislature authorized the updating and improvement of the Great Seal in order to more clearly define Idaho's main industries, mining, agriculture and forestry as well as highlight the state's natural beauty. Paul B. Evans and the Caxton Printers, Ltd. were commissioned to revise the seal. This painting by Paul B. Evans officially replaced the original design by Emma Edwards Green and is designated as the "Official Copy." The official Great Seal of the State of Idaho can be seen in the office of the Secretary of State.

Idaho Has the only Great Seal Designed by a Woman

Idaho became a state on July 3, 1890 and that same summer a talented young woman came to the state capitol at Boise to visit relatives. Emma Sarah Etine Edwards (later she married mining man James G. Green) was the daughter of John C. Edwards, a former Governor of Missouri (1844-48) who had emigrated to Stockton, California where he acquired large land holdings, a beautiful French Creole wife, Emma Catherine Richards, and became Mayor of Stockton, in about that order.

Emma, eldest of a family of eight, was exceptionally well educated for a woman of that period and when she dropped into Boise, it was on her way home from a year spent at art school in New York. However, what was to be a very short visit turned into a lifelong stay, for she fell in love with the charming city and its people and opened art classes where the young pioneers of the community learned to paint.

Shortly after her classes started, she was invited to enter a design for the Great Seal of the State of Idaho. Acting on Concurrent Resolution No. 1, adopted by the First Legislature of the newest state in the union, a committee was appointed from that body and instructed to offer a prize of one hundred dollars for the best design submitted.

Artists from all over the country entered the competition, but the unanimous winner was young Emma Edwards, who became the first and only woman to design the Great Seal of a State.

She was handed the honorarium by Governor Norman B. Willey on March 5, 1891. The state flag also carries the seal centered on a deep blue background.

Emma Edwards Green had no children of her own, but assisted in rearing a nephew, Darell B. Edwards, a distinguished Oakland attorney. Ralph Edwards of "This is Your Life," also a nephew, shows a valid artistic strain flourished in the Edwards family.

Mrs. Green died in Boise January 6, 1942. She was buried beside her husband in Oakland, California.

The Idaho State Seal

By Emma Edwards Green

Before designing the seal, I was careful to make a thorough study of the resources and future possibilities of the State. I invited the advice and counsel of every member of the Legislature and other citizens qualified to help in creating a Seal of State that really represented Idaho at that time. Idaho had been admitted into the Union on July 3rd, 1890. The first state Legislature met in Boise on December 8, 1890, and on March 14th, 1891, adopted my design for the Great Seal of the State of Idaho.

The question of Woman Suffrage was being agitated somewhat, and as leading men and politicians agreed that Idaho would eventually give women the right to vote, and as mining was the chief industry, and the mining man the largest financial factor of the state at that time, I made the figure of the man the most prominent in the design, while that of the woman, signifying justice, as noted by the scales; liberty, as denoted by the liberty cap on the end of the spear, and equality with man as denoted by her position at his side, also signifies freedom. The pick and shovel held by the miner, and the ledge of rock beside which he stands, as well as the pieces of ore scattered about his feet, all indicate the chief occupation of the State. The stamp mill in the distance, which you can see by using a magnifying glass, is also typical of the mining interest of Idaho. The shield between the man and woman is emblematic of the protection they unite in giving the state. The large fir or pine tree in the foreground in the shield refers to Idaho's immense timber interests. The husbandman plowing on the left side of the shield, together with the sheaf of grain beneath the shield, are emblematic of Idaho's agricultural resources, while the cornucopias, or horns of plenty, refer to the horticultural. Idaho has a game law, which protects the elk and moose. The elk's head, therefore, rises above the shield. The state flower, the wild Syringa or Mock Orange, grows at the woman's feet, while the ripened wheat grows as high as her shoulder. The star signifies a new light in the galaxy of states. . . . The river depicted in the shield is our mighty Snake or Shoshone River, a stream of great majesty.

In regard to the coloring of the emblems used in the making of the Great Seal of the State of Idaho, my principal desire was to use such colors as would typify pure Americanism and the history of the State. As Idaho was a virgin state, I robed my goddess in white and made the liberty cap on the end of the spear the same color. In representing the miner, I gave him the garb of the period suggested by such mining authorities as former United States Senator George Shoup, of Idaho, former Governor Norman B. Willey of Idaho, former Governor James H. Hawley of Idaho, and other mining men and early residents of the state who knew intimately the usual garb of the miner. Almost unanimously they said, "Do not put the miner in a red shirt." "Make the shirt a grayish brown," said Captain J.J. Wells, chairman of the Seal Committee. The "Light of the Mountains" is typified by the rosy glow which precedes the sunrise.

Creation of the Territory of Idaho

Prior to 1868 the region destined to become Idaho passed through several territorial reorganizations. For five years (from August 14, 1848 to March 2, 1853) it was included in Oregon Territory. Then it was divided between Washington Territory and Oregon Territory until February 14, 1859. Oregon then became a state, and the entire Idaho area was attached to Washington. At that time, the land that became Idaho was expected to remain unsettled for another 50 years or so. That would have been some time into the twentieth century. Then an unexpected Idaho gold rush, a year after Oregon's admission to the Union, changed the whole situation. Miners came by the thousands, and within two years the Idaho mines (as the country was known in 1862) had gained a population a lot greater than the older settlements of Washington.

When gold was discovered at Pierce, September 30, 1860, the eastern part of Washington Territory (which included all of what is now Idaho) was undeveloped politically. The Idaho portion made up part of Spokane County, which no one had yet bothered to organize. Anticipating the Clearwater gold rush, the Washington legislature established Shoshone County, which included all the country south and east of Lewiston. In the territorial election of July 8, 1861, Shoshone County cast the largest vote in Washington, and in 1862 the Salmon River gold rush made Florence by far the biggest community in the territory. Older, more stable settlements such as Olympia and Seattle just did not compare with Florence that season. Mineral discoveries in Boise Basin, August 2, 1862, set off an even bigger gold rush to a region decidedly farther from the original settlements of western Washington. Something had to be done to provide better government for the new mining regions. Four different plans were advanced. Each was designed to fit the ambitions of one of four different communities in Washington: Olympia, Vancouver, Walla Walla, and Lewiston.

Lewiston wanted a new territory that would take in Washington east of the big bend of the Columbia River. If such a territory were to be established, Lewiston would have been a natural choice for capital. An editorial in Lewiston's pioneer newspaper, the Golden Age, expressed extreme dissatisfaction with Washington's government as administered from Olympia in the fall of 1862:

"Of what use to us is a capitol of Washington Territory located at Olympia on the forty-ninth parallel. During four months of last year no communication could be had with the place at all. Its distance is between seven and eight hundred miles, interspersed with hugh forests, roaring rivers, and rocky bound shores of ice, with impassable barriers of snow. One of the editors of the Washington Statesman was elected to the Legislature by the voters of Walla, and before he left to perform those legislative duties for his constituents, he made his will, settled all of his worldly accounts, and bid his friends adieu until next summer, and perhaps forever."

Olympia actually was not quite as far north, or quite as far away, as the Golden Age made out. But many people in Lewiston strongly supported the plan for making a new territory, and a citizens' meeting there firmly endorsed the project, December 28, 1862. Walla dissented. Division of Washington Territory would leave Olympia capital of the western part, and make Lewiston capital of the new mining territory that would be established. Walla preferred to keep Washington territory intact. As a compromise, after the Boise gold rush got underway, Walla was willing to return to Washington's original boundaries which included the country later to become North Idaho and western Montana. Rapid growth of the mining population was expected to lead to Washington's admission as a state in another year or two, and Walla fully expected to be state capital. Most of the Idaho miners--at least the ones that voted in the 1862 election--had favored candidates who endorsed Walla Walla's preference. The Washington legislature chosen that year opposed the plan to set up a new mining territory of Idaho, and Walla expected to become capital of Washington just as soon as reapportionment of the legislature could give control of the territory to the mining counties, which clearly had the majority of the population. West of the Cascades, Vancouver preferred an arrangement which would have kept enough of eastern Washington to advance Vancouver's claim to be territorial capital. Lack of a wagon road across the Cascades forced traffic from Puget Sound to come through Vancouver to reach eastern Washington. Thus Vancouver aspired to become territorial capital as a compromise location between the two sections. On Puget Sound, Olympia wished to retain its status as capital. In order to prevent the mining counties from gaining a legislative majority and from taking the capital to Walla, Olympia decided that the mining region would have to be set aside as a separate territory. At the same time, Olympia wished to keep the slower growing farming areas of eastern Washington. That way state admission would not be delayed too long, and Washington would be no smaller than was absolutely necessary to preserve Olympia's power. Olympia won the fight. A new mining territory of Idaho emerged from eastern Washington, with Lewiston on its western boundary. In this boundary settlement, Olympia and Puget Sound had enough strength to hold down Vancouver and Walla once the mining counties were taken out of Washington. A. G. Henry, an Olympia agent and Washington surveyor general, recommended the line which congress adopted and which continues to separate Idaho and Washington to this day. Of the four alternate boundary and capital city arrangements, Olympia's prevailed only after a hard battle. Those who worked in Olympia's interest--to keep the eastern agricultural lands in Washington, but to put the new mines in Idaho--had plenty of strength in the United States Senate but faced a hard time in the House of Representatives. The chairman of the House committee preferred to restore Washington's original 1853 boundaries, and to establish a new mining territory of Montana for the Boise region and for the upper Missouri mines which now are in Montana but then were in Dakota. This proposal passed the House, February 12, 1863. Yet it looked entirely too risky to the Olympia forces, and the last night of the session, they got Congress to amend the boundaries to include all the Idaho mines that Olympia wished to exclude from Washington. Olympia's agents quietly had built up enough strength in the House that they were able to gain concurrence in the senate amendments which changed the boundary and restored the name "Idaho" to the new mining territory. The last morning of the session--March 4, 1863--President Abraham Lincoln approved the proposal, and Idaho became a territory of the United States. Exceeding Texas substantially in size, Idaho originally included all of present Montana, along with practically all of Wyoming as well. That arrangement was a mistake. A large mountain block divided the population of the new territory of Idaho into three distinct sections. Each of them was relatively inaccessible from the others, and in 1864, Congress decided to set up a new territory of Montana, taking the northeastern part of Idaho for the purpose. That got rid of one of the three disconnected sections, but left the other two in Idaho, still separated by a difficult mountain barrier. The remainder of the original eastern Idaho was returned temporarily to Dakota when Montana was established, May 26, 1864. Finally, when construction of the Union Pacific railroad made possible the creation of Wyoming, July 25, 1868, Idaho received its present boundaries. By that time, the territory of Idaho had been in operation for a number of years, and the foundations for a new commonwealth had been laid. When Idaho became a state, July 3, 1890, the 1868 boundaries became permanent.

The Lewis and Clark Trail Across Idaho

Lewis and Clark led an expedition from St. Louis in 1804 to explore the headwaters of the Missouri, which through the Louisiana Purchase had just become part of the United States. Their purpose was to take boats as far as they could up the Missouri, and then to cross the Continental Divide to the Columbia. At that time, no white man had seen Idaho, which was in the unexplored southern Columbia interior that belonged to no one. (Or at least if anyone had seen Idaho, he did not bother to say much about it.) So, when four members of the expedition, including Meriwether Lewis, ascended the Continental Divide, August 12, 1805, and reached the region later known as Idaho, the story of the white man in Idaho began.

Lewis and Clark had expected to pack their gear across the divide between navigable waters of the Missouri and of the Columbia with little difficulty. In this they were disappointed. The mountains of Idaho turned out to be the major obstacle in their entire journey, and they were fortunate indeed to get through before early winter snow blocked their passage.

Not long after he crossed into Idaho, Lewis succeeded in making contact with the Lemhi Shoshoni, who agreed to come with their horses to move the expedition's supplies across to Salmon River. When Lewis' detachment and the Shoshoni band got back to the main expedition, they discovered that Sacajawea, their Shoshoni interpreter who had been captured in 1800 by other Indians and taken east, was a member of that same Lemhi band, which now was led by her brother. While Lewis and the main expedition were hauling their equipment over the Continental Divide, Clark and a few men went ahead to see if the expedition could expect to build boats and float down the Salmon. He did not have to go too far into the canyon to tell that it was far rougher than any country he had ever seen—and the Indians assured him that he had seen nothing yet in the way of rugged canyons. So Lewis and Clark had to trade for Shoshoni horses and to go north 160 miles to the Lolo Trail over a route that an elderly Shoshoni guide led them. Then, when they reached Lolo Pass on September 13, 1805, they found that they had made a great unnecessary detour to the south in searching out the headwaters of the Missouri. But, at last they were on their way to the Columbia.

Early winter snow made the trip over the Lolo Trail a hard one. And lack of game reduced them to eating horses for subsistence part of the time. Eventually, though, Clark's advance party reached a Nez Perce village on Weippe prairie, September 20, and obtained three horse loads of salmon and roots to send back to the main expedition. Then, upon reaching the forks of the Clearwater below Orofino, the party made dugout canoes and floated down to Snake River, the Columbia, and finally to the Pacific before winter set in.

Returning across the Lolo Trail in the spring of 1806 proved to be difficult. After recovering the horses which they had left in care of the Nez Perce Indians for the winter, the impatient explorers had to camp for a month or more near Kamiah waiting for the snow to melt on the upper trail, and then they started off too soon. Finally, with essential help from Nez Perce guides, they managed to complete their eastbound trip across north Idaho. Although they reported that they had been able to get from the head of navigation on the Missouri to the head of navigation on the Columbia, and that a road could be built to connect the two, they had not found a very practical early route across Idaho—at least in comparison with other routes that soon were discovered. But they had established friendly contact with the Indians of north and south Idaho, and had prepared the way for the fur trade which was to bring white explorers to all parts of Idaho.

Origins of Sacajawea's Name

Sacajawea is an English word of Hidatsa language derivation. A great deal of confusion has arisen concerning its origin. No really satisfactory explanation has been substantiated, largely because Lewis and Clark did not offer more than a vague suggestion, referring to her once as a bird woman whatever that was. For that matter, they generally did not comment upon linguistic origins of other names of members of their expedition either, and no one would have expected them to. They lived in an era when standard spelling of English words was beginning to come into fashion, but their journals (which they did not prepare for scholarly publication) contain considerable variety, including different forms for Sacajawea's name. When a published account of their expedition appeared in 1814, Sacajawea was adopted. This became her English name, although Sacajawea never became aware of that. She did not survive a stay at Fort Manuel in 1812, so she had no opportunity to see that publication. What name she used in 1812 went unrecorded, but it most likely was not Sacajawea anyway.

Whether Sacajawea had any idea at any time that she was referred to by an Hidatsa term for some variety of bird also is unclear and certainly is undocumented. Several problems account for this situation. Shoshoni and Hidatsa personal name practices differ so much from English and French systems that such a problem could not have been explained to her in 1805 or 1806 even if anyone had wanted to. Sacajawea did not speak English or French then, and had to converse with her husband, Toussaint Charbonneau, in Hidatsa which for her was a foreign language that she may have resented anyway. But Lewis and Clark obtained her identification as something like Sacajawea from an Hidatsa source, in this case sa kaa ka wiiya (a highly simplified transcription provided by Norman Bowers, a thoroughly competent Hidatsa linguist), which still can be recognized as their term for some kind of bird. Lewis and Clark learned of this designation through their Hidatsa interpreter Sacajawea's French husband, Toussaint Charbonneau. She may or may not have responded to such a name, but transcripts of ordinary conversation to determine that issue are unavailable. Since she could not communicate with expedition members anyway, except through non verbal means, she would have had a hard time identifying her name in alien conversation that she did not understand. Sacajawea is not a Shoshoni word, and French and English people would have had no way of discerning any Shoshoni name that she might have used even if they had wanted to.

Charbonneau's source for his wife's name cannot be ascertained. Several options are possible. Sacajawea most likely would have had more than one childhood Shoshoni name, and various bird (as well as animal) names often were used for young Shoshoni children. (She could have suggested a bird name to Charbonneau, which she would have had to have done in Hidatsa, because Charbonneau did not know Shoshoni. But no evidence supports this kind of explanation. It is only a conceivable, but undocumented, possibility.) Or her Hidatsa captors might have employed a crow, hawk, robin, eagle, or similar designation for her. This alternative certainly is credible, but also is undocumented. Charbonneau at least used an Hidatsa form that, he told Lewis and Clark, referred to Bird Woman. Another possibility, about equally plausible, is that Charbonneau named her Bird Woman. That would not have conformed to Shoshoni tradition better than any other explanation, but Charbonneau presumably had not studied Shoshoni tradition. Shoshoni women generally took a new name when they married, and Charbonneau or Sacajawea may have arranged that upon her assignment to Charbonneau. Neither one would have had much incentive to retain a name her Hidatsa captors used, and Sacajawea, in particular might have objected to an alien name. An additional variation is that Sacajawea may have selected some variety of bird without consulting Charbonneau or anyone else. She would have had to tell Charbonneau that in Hidatsa if she did so, but that cannot be verified either. She had at least one or more Hidatsa names, but whether her Hidatsa captors ever called her Sa kaa kaa Wiiya cannot be established. Sacajawea and her Shoshoni people had no term for birds that French and English explorers referred to generically, and such a European language name would be total nonsense in their conception.

A variety of legends, mostly twentieth century, grew up concerning Sacajawea, and some of these dealt with her name. But irresponsible twentieth century attempts to tamper with a long established standard English spelling of Sacajawea's name have lacked linguistic merit, although they continue to distort many accounts of her career. If Sacajawea had been an Hidatsa rather than a Shoshoni woman, efforts to replace her English name of 1814 with a more accurate Hidatsa form of 1804 might have been more plausible. Unlike large numbers of her people, Sacajawea preferred to settle down in an Anglo French society after 1806, and certainly wanted to have nothing more to do with her Hidatsa captors. Inflicting a more authentic Hidatsa name upon her scarcely can be defended as an appropriate activity for twentieth century Lewis and Clark historians.

Idaho State Capitol

Boise, in the southwestern Idaho area known as the Treasure Valley, became the territorial capital in 1865 and the state capital when Idaho was admitted to statehood in 1890.

Territorial Capitol

More than twenty years after the Idaho legislature located the capital in Boise, and after several unsuccessful attempts to get the U.S. Congress to build a capitol, territorial secretary D.P.B. Pride persuaded the legislature to appropriate $80,000 for a territorial capitol building in Boise. The legislature approved the act authorizing the issuance of bonds on February 2, 1885. However, construction was delayed when residents of the city of Hailey obtained an injunction. They felt that the capitol should be located at Hailey.

The building of red brick in the Norman style of architecture was finally completed in 1886. It measured 123' X 81' with five floors including the basement, but it had no indoor plumbing. It was used from 1886 to 1912

The Capitol's central block before the wings were added.

State Capitol

In 1905 the legislature created the Capitol Building Commission, with the power to issue bonds, negotiate and sign contracts, and approve architectural plans. The commission purchased Central School which stood in the block next to the territorial capitol and also negotiated the purchase and closure of Seventh Street between Jefferson and State Streets in order to enlarge the building site.

Construction of the present building was begun in 1905. The original phase included only the central section and dome. The architectural design was supplied by J.E. Tourtellotte and Company. It is in the standard neoclassic style, patterned after the U.S. Capitol. Construction of the central section and dome was completed in 1912. Tourtellotte and Hummel were awarded a contract in 1912 to design wings for the building and construction began in 1919. The Central School building was demolished to make way for the west wing and the Territorial Capitol building was razed for construction of the east wing. The project was completed in 1920.

The final cost of construction was $2,098,455.05. The building has a total floor area of 201,720 square feet and, including the dome with the 5'7" bronzed solid copper eagle on top, is 208 feet high. The original plans called for a flag atop the dome, but in the course of construction the eagle was substituted. The outside walls are faced with sandstone from state owned Tablerock east of Boise. Convict labor was used to quarry and deliver the sandstone blocks, some weighing up to ten tons. The shape of the sandstone blocks on the first floor resembles logs and gives the lower part of the building the appearance of a log cabin.

Statue of former Governor Frank Steunenberg (1897-1901) stands in front of the State Capitol

Inside the capitol, large pillars of steel and brick covered with a veneer of scagliola (a mixture of granite, marble dust, gypsum and glue) rise in the rotunda to the dome and central structure of the building. The scagliola veneer was created by an entire family of Italian artisans. In 1976, the veneer on the pillars was repaired by injecting marble dust and glue into the cracks with hypodermic needles. The surface was then covered with a polyurethane finish to protect it.

The corridors, floors, wainscoting and base throughout the building consist of 50,646 square feet of artistically carved marble. There are four kinds blended into the interior: green swirled Vermont marble on the walls, gray Alaska marble with inlaid patterns of near black Italian marble in the floors and four grand staircases, and reddish pink Georgia marble in the trim.

First Floor

From the center of the rotunda on the ground floor, one can look upward to the dome to and admire the decorative stars.

In the rotunda floor is a marble pattern called “compass rose.” Alongside the rotunda stands a sundial composed of minerals found in Idaho. The sundial symbolizes Idaho’s great abundance of natural resources and its major industries.

Also in the rotunda is a large statue entitled the Patriot sculpted with a welding torch by Kenneth Lonn, a resident of the Silver Valley. He dedicated this work to the men and women of Idaho’s mining industry.

In the east wing is the office of the state treasurer, where an original vault containing a large 1905 manganese safe is still in use. Portraits of previous treasurers are displayed in the office. Legislative Services offices are also located in the east wing.

Second Floor

There are three impressive entrances to the second floor, from the east, the south, and the west. On the south side of the rotunda is the portico, or main entrance. This is also known as the ceremonial entrance, for it is here that important visitors are greeted and inaugurations are held. A replica of the Liberty Bell, molded in France, stands at the base of the stairs. The bell was given to the State by the Department of the Treasury in 1950. Two giant spheres of Montana granite flank the thirty-three steps of this entrance.

Just inside the portico stands a replica of the statue “Winged Victory of Samothrace.” This is one of many gifts sent by France in 1949 to the capitals of the United States. The original marble statue stands in the Louvre in Paris.

The governor’s suite of offices is located in the west wing. Visitors can view the official portraits of the governor. On the wall of the hallway adjacent to the governor’s office hang portraits of previous governors of the state. The opposite wall holds a display of flags which were carried by Idaho regiments in France during World War I. There is also a glass case containing a sample of the governor’s official china, glassware, and silverware, all of which was donated to the state.

The lieutenant governor’s office is also located in the west wing, just opposite the governor’s office.

On the north side of the second floor rotunda is the statue of George Washington astride a horse. This work was carved from pine by Charles Ostner, a German immigrant. Ostner, working at night by candlelight from a postage stamp likeness, took four years to carve the figure. The statue was painted bronze and presented to the Territory of Idaho in 1869. It stood on display on the capitol grounds until 1934, when due to weather damage, it was brought indoors and covered with gold leaf.

To the rear of the George Washington statue is the attorney general’s suite of offices. These offices were used by the Idaho Supreme Court justices until the new supreme court building was constructed in 1970. Many of the original lamp fixtures, some with very rare fire opal glass globes are visible in the main office. A fire broke out in the attorney general’s office on January 1, 1992, causing approximately 3.2 million dollars in damage. Restoration was completed in two and one-half years.

In the east wing is the office of the Secretary of State. In the reception area is the official copy of the Great Seal of the State of Idaho. The original is in safe keeping at the State Historical Museum. Portraits of previous secretaries of state are displayed in the office lobby.

Third Floor

The legislative chambers are located on the third floor, the senate in the west wing and the house of representatives in the east wing. Committee rooms and offices surround each chamber. Both chambers were remodeled in 1968. Also on this floor is the former Idaho Supreme Court room. All of the furnishings and decorations are symbolic of justice, law and mercy. Ten torch-like lights mimic those in the U.S. Supreme Court chambers. This room is now used for hearings and committee meetings of the legislature's Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee (JFAC).

Fourth Floor

On the fourth floor are balcony entrances to the senate and house chambers. From these galleries the public can watch the legislature when it is in session. On the north side of the fourth floor rotunda is a display of flags flown in the Philippines by the First Idaho infantry during the Spanish American War. A large painting of Shoshone Falls on the Snake River near the city of Twin Falls hangs on the south wall of the fourth floor, it is by artist J. C. Cowles. Three historic murals by Dana Boussard, one each for the three geographical regions of the State, hang in the northeast, northwest, and southwest corners of the fourth floor. The representation of North, Southwest, and Southeast Idaho will remind viewers of the state's diversity as well as its unity.

Basement

Sections of the basement have been remodeled to provide office space for legislative support staff. The Secretary of State's Commercial Division utilizes the west end of the basement. Remodeling has added office space for the news media. Much of the space is still used for storage and building services. Access to the tunnel which connects many of the buildings in the mall is from the basement.

Grounds

The grounds contain several notable trees, some of which were planted by U.S. Presidents. Among them are the Water Oak planted by President Benjamin Harrison on May 8, 1891, President Harrison had one year earlier signed a proclamation for Idaho to become a state, a Rock (Sugar) Maple planted by President Theodore Roosevelt on May 28, 1903, and the Ohio Buckeye planted by President William Howard Taft on October 9, 1911. Also on the east lawn is a maple tree planted in memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. On the west lawn is an oak tree from the Tree of Gernika brought to Idaho in 1981 from the Basque Country in northern Spain, as a symbol of Basque freedom and independence.

Just to the east of the ceremonial entrance is the Ruth G. Moon Rose Garden, in honor of the former state treasurer who served from 1945-46, 1955-59.

There are two monuments on the grounds. On the east lawn is the Pioneer Monument paid for by 2,777 school children of Boise on May 8, 1906 to perpetuate the memory of the Old Oregon Trail. On the west lawn is a monument erected by the ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic in August of 1935 in honor of the Grand Army of the Republic (organization of Union Army veterans).

On the west lawn near Jefferson Street is an old "Model 1840" cast iron sea coast gun used by the confederacy in the Civil War. This was obtained by State Treasurer C.A. Hastings with the help of Senator Borah.

Directly across Jefferson Street from the main entrance is the Steunenberg Monument.

The statue of Governor Frank Steunenberg, who was assassinated in 1905, was cast by Gilbert P. Riswold and dedicated in 1927. The monument, and the adjacent Frank Church Capitol Park to the east, are owned by Boise City. The city was granted the land by the state in exchange for the closure of Seventh Street to allow for the enlargement of the capitol building site.

Capitol Mall

The capitol building sits in the southwest corner of the mall complex, which is bounded by Jefferson Street on the south, Eighth Street on the west, Washington Street on the north, and Third Street on the east. Since 1963 six new structures have been built in the complex. These include the State Library and Archives, the Supreme Court Building, the Pete T. Cenarrusa building, a five story parking structure, the Len B. Jordan Building, and the Joe R. Williams Building.

The mall area includes many older buildings as well: the Ada County Courthouse, Marion Hall, and the Governor Alexander House built in 1897 by Governor Moses Alexander.

All of the mall buildings are heated with geothermal water. Idaho's Capitol building is the only one in the United States heated by geothermal water. A pumping station in the parking lot north of the Len B. Jordan Building can provide enough hot water to heat 750,000 square feet of building space on all but the most severe winter days. The 3,000 foot well can produce about 1,000 gallons per minute of water at 165° F under natural artesian pressure. The system was first used in the winter of 1982 - 83, and is projected to save about $150,000 per year in natural gas heating bills.

Capitol Restoration

Idaho's State Capitol is our state's most treasured building. Within its beautiful sandstone walls, laws have been passed, issues debated and citizen rights safeguarded for nearly a century. To ensure the Capitol building's long history and legacy, the Idaho Capitol Commission was appointed by Governor Phil Batt in July 1998. The mission of the Idaho Capitol Commission is to restore and preserve the Capitol to its original splendor.

Legislative Branch

The Idaho Legislature is responsible for translating the public will into public policy for the state, levying taxes, appropriating public funds, and overseeing the administration of state agencies. These responsibilities are carried out through the legislative process -- laws passed by elected representatives of the people, legislators. Since statehood in 1890, Idaho's legislators have enjoyed a rich and successful history of charting the state's growth. Much of that success can be attributed to the fact that Idaho's legislators are "citizen" legislators, not career politicians. They are farmers and ranchers, business men and women, lawyers, doctors, sales people, loggers, teachers. Elected for two-year terms and in session at the Capitol just three months each year, Idaho's citizen legislators are able to maintain close ties to their communities and a keen interest in the concerns of the electorate.

The Idaho Legislature is committed to carrying out its mission in a manner that inspires public trust and confidence in elected government and the rule of law. The mission of the Legislature is to:

- Preserve the checks and balances of state government by the independent exercise of legislative powers;
- Adopt a system of laws that promote the health, education and well-being of Idaho's citizens;
- Preserve the state's environment and ensure wise, productive use of the state's natural resources;
- Carry out oversight responsibilities to enhance government accountability; and
- Raise revenues and appropriate monies that support necessary government services.

The Chambers

The Idaho State Capitol, following the same classical style of architecture as our nation's Capitol, was started in 1905 and the central portion was finished in 1911. The East and West wings occupied by the Legislature were finished in 1921. Idaho sandstone was used in facing the outside walls and Alaskan marble was used on the floors, staircases and trimmings. The inside walls are of Vermont marble.

During 1968, the Idaho Senate and House of Representatives chambers, located on the third floor, underwent extensive remodeling for the first time since 1921. The chambers, where the members sit while in session, were enclosed with walls, new desks were installed on risers and carpeting was added. In the balcony, new spectator seating was built. Modern acoustics, public address systems, lighting and ventilation were installed. These changes were part of a long-range plan for a complete renovation of the third and fourth floors. Plans included the adding of a central message center and lounge for the members and the remodeling of the offices occupied by the employees of the Legislature and the committee meeting rooms. This phase of the remodeling was completed during 1970.

The Membership

Presently, the Idaho Legislature is composed of 35 Senators and 70 Representatives elected for two year terms. The state is divided into 35 legislative districts, each represented by one Senator and two Representatives. Reapportionment, which must take place soon after the U.S. Census figures are published every ten years, realigns legislative districts proportionately with the census population totals. This had been the responsibility of the Legislature, but an amendment to the Idaho Constitution was adopted in 1994 that created an independent commission to reapportion in 2000 and thereafter.

Elections are held in November of even-numbered years, and the newly elected legislators officially take office December 1 following the election. Representatives and senators must be citizens of the United States, electors of the state and residents of their legislative district for at least one year prior to election.

Legislative compensation is established by a citizens commission, subject to rejection by the full Legislature. Legislators receive $15,646 per year, plus expenses for housing during the session, and $1,700 for office expenses. The President Pro Tem and Speaker receive an additional $3,000 per year.

The Sessions

Until 1969, sessions of the Idaho Legislature were held every two years. In November of 1968, the citizens of Idaho approved a Constitutional Amendment which authorized annual sessions. Since 1969, the Idaho Legislature convenes each January on the Monday on or closest to January 9th.

Extraordinary sessions of the Legislature may be called only by the Governor by proclamation and legislators may then act only upon those subjects specified in the proclamation. Extraordinary sessions are limited by the Constitution to 20 days per session.

The Officers

Presiding over the Senate is the Lieutenant Governor, who is not a member of the Senate but an elected official. When presiding over the Senate, he is designated the President of the Senate. The Senate also has a President Pro Tempore, who is elected each session by the Senate membership. In the House of Representatives, the Speaker of the House presides over the sessions. He is elected at the beginning of the session by the members and is a member of the majority party.

The majority party of both houses also selects majority and assistant majority floor leaders, who assist in the orderly process of the session, along with the minority and assistant minority floor leaders, who are elected by the members of the minority party.

The Speaker of the House, in cooperation with the members of the majority party, assigns the chairmanships of all committees and the memberships of the committees in the House. In the Senate, the President Pro Tem, with the approval of the Senate, assigns members to committees.

The President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House assign all bills to committees as they are processed "across the desk" during the session.

Lobbyists

Any person who contacts a legislator or a legislative committee with the intent to influence the approval, modification or rejection of any legislation is a lobbyist. If this person accepts payment for his services as a lobbyist, he must register with the office of the Secretary of State and comply with the “Sunshine Law” for political funds and lobbyist disclosure.

The Sunshine Law for Political Funds and Lobbyist Activity Disclosure, (Title 67, Chapter 66, Idaho Code), was enacted into law by an initiative in the 1974 general election by 78 percent voter approval. The law was effective upon the Governor’s proclamation on November 27, 1974.

Registered lobbyists are required to file periodic reports of their activities which disclose contributions and expenditures. The following tables are from records on file in the Secretary of State’s office.

The Legislature at Work

Each daily session of each house of the Legislature begins with the roll call of the members and a prayer by the Chaplain, who is selected by the members the first day of the session.

Traditionally, the sessions begin at 10:00 a.m. each morning and last until all immediate business to be considered is finished. In the early morning and late afternoon, committee meetings are scheduled to prevent any conflict with the sessions. Late in the session, late afternoon sessions are common. The sessions held at the beginning of the year are of a shorter duration as committees are meeting much of the time to consider legislation referred to their committees.

Some of the activity on the floor is necessary daily routine. For this reason, at times, members will be away from their desks. Some may be in caucuses, which are informal meetings of the members of one political party, or perhaps testifying for their own bills before Senate or House committees. Others may be involved in hurried conferences with other members, or be seeing constituents or groups from their home districts who are visiting the Capitol. Some of the informal conferences on controversial issues will occur on the floor itself.

Press, radio and television correspondents assigned to the Legislature have been allocated desks along the sides of the podium of the chamber floor so they can follow closely the session business. Most of the media quarters are located in the basement of the Capitol in the Rotunda area.

The Committee Structure

The House of Representatives has 14 committees and the Senate has 10. Committee membership is determined basically by the interest of the individual members. Although no one member can be expected to be expert in all fields, the vast majority of the members, through training or inclination, are highly conversant in certain areas. Effort is made to see that each member is assigned the committee of his choice. When appointments of committee chairmanships are made, it is customary to appoint a member of the majority party as chairman.

Once the legislative session gets underway, the committees concern themselves with all bills assigned to them. Those interested in a particular bill are encouraged to testify before the committee to which the bill is assigned.

Committee study guarantees a fair and impartial hearing upon each bill before committee members vote upon its merits and then determine whether or not it should be sent out to the Senate or House for consideration by the entire body. Much of the decision-making and evaluation of bills, or proposed laws, is done by committees. Usually the respective houses will follow the recommendations of its committees. However, the members who support or oppose bills will often speak on controversial measures in an attempt to influence the final vote by the entire House or Senate.

The Voting

The members are seated at desks facing the Speaker or President. Their desks have microphones to be used when addressing the session. When members wish to address the House, they request recognition from the presiding officer.

The members of the House of Representatives vote through electric scoreboards at the sides of the chamber. By punching a button on their desk, they indicate "yes" or "no" votes through the lighting up of a green or red bulb alongside their names on the boards. These votes are automatically totalled. The presiding officer announces the vote after the machine has recorded the same. In the Senate, voting is done by voice roll call vote and recorded on a tally sheet by the Secretary of the Senate. The President of the Senate then announces the vote.

A majority vote in the House and the Senate is 51% of the members present at the time of the vote. There is an exception to this rule which applies in certain issues when a two-thirds majority is required.

Senate and House Staff

The staff, at the desks just below the Speaker and the President, process all bills and resolutions through the Legislature.

The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House represent the expert ingredient in the administration of the legislative process. Directly responsible to the presiding officers, they are in charge of keeping a record of all business transacted during the sessions. They are responsible for the distribution of all printed bills and in charge of all documents for the session. They record and process each document for each day's business. A bill is said to be "read across the desk" when this processing has been completed.

The Idaho Legislature employs approximately 70 to 80 people for a session who fill various positions including the Sergeant at Arms, who is charged with keeping order during sessions, journal clerks, docket clerks, pages, messengers, secretaries, committee clerks and doorkeepers.

Information Center

The main function of the Information Center is to provide a communication link and personal contact between legislators and their constituents. It accepts telephone calls, faxes, and e-mail messages. It has a Copy Room to make copies of bills. The Information Center provides tours of the Capitol for school groups, civic groups and any other group interested. The Idaho Historical Society conducts tours when the legislature is not in session. The Information Center also schedules use of the fourth floor rotunda area and Gold Room and provides a weekly social calendar for the Legislators.

Other information available at the Information Center includes: Committee schedules, Daily Data, Mini Data, and the Legislative Directory distributed by the Legislative Services Office. Also, internet access is available for bills, committees agendas, second and third reading calendars.

The Information Center is staffed with a director, an information specialist, six telephone operators, two copy machine operators, two tour guides, and four messengers. The staff is hired by the House and Senate Attache Committees. The Legislative Information Center was established in 1974.

Publications

Three publications are printed daily by the Legislature. The Senate and House Journals give a chronological account of the daily proceedings, including the roll call vote upon all actions which require a recorded vote.

The Journals are printed during the night and distributed to members before each session in the morning. The Mini-Data, published daily except Monday and available before the session begins each morning, lists House and Senate bills in numerical order, gives an abbreviated description and the last action on each bill. The Daily Data is published weekly on Monday, lists all bills and resolutions in numerical order, gives more detailed descriptive information and recaps all action on that bill, including roll call votes. The Daily Data also includes a complete subject index of legislation introduced. Each house of the Legislature prints and distributes all bills, resolutions and memorials introduced the previous legislative day.

Copies of these publications and all bills, resolutions and memorials are available from the Legislative Mail Room located in the basement of the Capitol.

Legislative Council

The Legislative Council oversees the management responsibilities and permanent staff of the Legislature. The Council, established in 1963, consists of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the majority and minority leaders of each house, four senators appointed by the parties of the Senate, two from each party, and four representatives chosen in caucus by the parties of the House of Representatives, two from each party. The Legislative Council meets twice annually, once in the spring and once in the fall.

Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee

The Senate Finance Committee and the House Appropriations Committee meet as the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee (JFAC) to establish the state budget. Meeting daily through most of the legislative session, JFAC members review the executive budget and budget requests of each state department, agency and institution, including requests for construction of capital improvements, as well as other requests for appropriations submitted to the Legislature. JFAC's recommendations on agency budgets are submitted to the Legislature in the form of appropriation bills, and rarely fail to be approved by the full Legislature.

Legislative Services Office

The Legislative Services Office was created by the Legislature in 1993 to consolidate the nonpartisan staff support to Idaho's citizen legislators. In an effort to coordinate services, a Director of Legislative Services was named to oversee three formerly separate offices. Functions of the Legislative Services Office include:

- Budget and Policy Analysis*: assists legislators with the state's budget making process and provides policy advice to individual legislators and legislative committees.
- Legislative Audits*: conducts financial post-audits of state agencies -- an effort to ensure state and local government agencies spend funds properly and in accordance with government accounting standards.
- Research and Legislation*: conducts research for legislators, drafts legislation, staffs legislative study committees, reviews administrative agency rules, and provides information on the legislative process and legislative history to the public and other state agencies.

•Network Administration: maintains the Legislature's comprehensive computer network, which links all legislative and staff offices, and supports other legislative technology initiatives.

Streamlining legislative staff services represents the Legislature's commitment to "reinventing government" and improving the way government works. An effort to modernize services, the team management concept encourages communication and coordination among all areas of legislative support staff.

Office of Performance Evaluations

Under the direction of the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee, a staff of performance evaluators examines the effectiveness of state agency administration, makes recommendations to the Legislature about ways in which state agency operations might be improved, and helps legislators ensure that agencies operate as intended, to maximize the quality of state services provided to Idaho citizens.

Members of the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee (JLOC) are appointed by the majority and minority party leaders of the Senate and the House. The two cochairman must be from different houses and different political parties, and are appointed by the Legislative Council. By law, JLOC includes an equal number of members from each major party and an equal number of members from each house. Membership includes the co-chairs of the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee or their designees.

Miscellaneous Legislation

In addition to bills, the Idaho Legislature considers the following types of legislation:

JOINT MEMORIAL: A petition usually addressed to the President, the Congress, or some official or department of the United States Government, requesting an action which is within the jurisdiction of the official or body addressed. A Joint Memorial is acted upon in essentially the same manner as a bill, and must be passed by both houses. It is not signed by the Governor.

JOINT RESOLUTION: A measure used only to propose an amendment to the State Constitution or to ratify an amendment to the United States Constitution. A Joint Resolution requires approval of two-thirds majority of the entire membership of each house and does not have to be signed by the Governor (in all other respects, the parliamentary procedure necessary to adopt a Joint Resolution is the same as it is for bills).

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION: A measure not having the force of law, and normally used for one of four purposes: (1) To manage and regulate the internal affairs of the Legislature, such as providing for the printing of bills; (2) To express appreciation on the part of the Legislature; (3) To direct interim studies by the Legislative Council; or (4) To formally express a point of view or opinion. A Concurrent Resolution is acted upon in essentially the same manner as a bill.

SIMPLE RESOLUTION: Simple Resolutions are passed by only one house of the Legislature and are not signed by the Governor. They deal with internal housekeeping, setting salaries, procedural rules, etc.

Referendum and Initiative

The people of the State of Idaho have the power to approve or reject at the polls any act or measure passed by the Legislature. This power is known as the referendum and is granted by the State Constitution in Article III, Section 1. This section also grants the people the power to propose laws and enact them at the polls independent of the Legislature. This power is known as the initiative.

Legal voters may, under such provisions set forth in Chapter 18, Title 34, Idaho Code, initiate legislation for consideration by the voters, or demand a referendum vote by the people on any act or measure passed by the Legislature. The referendum was first used in 1936; the initiative in 1938.

To date, twenty-six initiatives have been attempted, fourteen have been approved by popular vote. Four referendums have been attempted, and three approved.

How a Bill Becomes a Law

A bill is a proposal for the enactment, amendment, or repeal of a statute or for the appropriation of public money. A bill may originate in either the House or Senate (with the exception of revenue measures, which must originate in the House of Representatives). It must be passed by a majority vote of each house of the Legislature on a roll call vote and not be vetoed by the Governor. In the event the Governor vetoes a bill, it can become law if passed again by both houses of the Legislature by two-thirds of those persons present in each house. A bill can become law without the Governor's approval if it is not vetoed by the Governor within five days (Sundays excepted) after presentation to him during the session. After the Legislature adjourns "sine die" the Governor has ten days to impose a veto.

A bill cannot become law until it has been read on three separate days in each house of the Legislature previous to the final vote on the bill. In the case of urgency, two-thirds of the members of the house where the bill is pending may vote to dispense with this provision.

Introduction

A bill may be introduced in the Legislature by a member, group of members or by a standing committee. After the 20th day of the session in the House and the 12th day in the Senate, no bill may be introduced except by committee. After the 35th day no bill may be introduced except by certain privileged committees. In the House: State Affairs, Appropriations, Education, Revenue and Taxation, and Ways and Means committees. In the Senate: State Affairs, Finance, and Judiciary and Rules committees.

After the bill has been drawn in proper form for introduction, the original bill and fifteen copies are presented to the Chief Clerk or the Secretary of the Senate who assigns the House or Senate bill a number by which it will always be known. The numbered bill is then introduced by reading it on the Order of Business "Introduction and First Reading of Bills."

Bills which have been passed by the other house are received and placed on the same order of business and treated in the same manner as new bills in the house of origin.

First Reading

The bill is read the first time and is then referred by the Speaker of the House of Representatives to the Judiciary, Rules and Administration Committee for printing. No law can be passed except by bill, and no bill can become law without first being printed. After the bill is printed, it is reported back by the Judiciary, Rules and Administration Committee and is referred to a standing committee by the Speaker.

Reports of Standing Committees

Each committee to which the bill is referred conducts a study which may include research, open or closed hearings, expert testimony, statements of interested parties, and any information which may help the committee judge the scope of the proposed law and determine its effect.

A committee that reports out a bill after completing its study may report it out with one of the following recommendations:

1. Do Pass
2. Without recommendation
3. To be placed on General Orders for amendment
4. Do not pass (bills are seldom released from committee with this recommendation)
5. Withdrawn with the privilege of introducing another bill
6. Be referred to another standing committee

If a committee reports a bill out and does not recommend that the bill be amended or other action to keep it from going to the floor, the bill is then placed on second reading.

Many bills are not reported out by committees and “die” in committee. Special rules of the House apply when the committee does not desire to report out a bill for consideration by the entire House.

Second Reading

When a bill is reported out of committee, it is placed on the second reading calendar and is read again. The following legislative day, the bill is automatically on third reading unless other action has been taken.

Third Reading

The Clerk is required to read the bill at length, section by section, when it is on the Order of Business “Third Reading of Bills.” It is normal procedure, however, for the members to give unanimous consent to dispense with this reading at length.

It is at third reading that the bill is ready for debate, and the final vote on the passage of the bill is taken at this time. Each bill is sponsored by a member who is known as the “floor sponsor” and who opens and closes debate in favor or passage of the bill. After debate has closed, the members vote on the electronic voting machine. Each member present can cast either an “aye” or “nay” vote. A bill is passed by a majority of those present.

If the bill fails to pass, it is filed by the Chief Clerk. If the bill is passed, it is transmitted to the Senate where it may go through a similar process.

Senate Action on House Bills

After the final action by the Senate on a House bill, it is returned to the House with a message explaining the Senate’s action. The message is read to the House. If the bill passed the Senate without amendment, it is enrolled by the House Judiciary, Rules and Administration Committee, signed by the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate and transmitted to the Governor for his action.

Committee of the Whole

When a printed bill is to be amended, it is referred to the Committee of the Whole for amendment.

At the proper order of business, the House resolves itself into the Committee of the Whole House and the entire membership sits as one committee to consider changes to both House and Senate bills.

When a House bill has been amended by the Committee of the Whole, and the committee's report on the amendment(s) accepted by the House, it is referred to the engrossing committee (in the House, the Judiciary, Rules & Administration Committee) where the amendments are inserted into the bill and the engrossed bill is then placed back on the calendar, to be considered as a new bill which must receive three readings.

Governor's Action

After receiving a bill passed by both the House and the Senate the Governor may:

1. Approve the bill by signing it within five days after its receipt, Sundays excepted.
2. Allow the bill to become law without his approval by not signing it within the five days allowed.
3. Disapprove (veto) the bill within the five days allowed and return the bill to the house of origin giving his reason for disapproval. (The exception here is that in the event the Legislature has adjourned "sine die" the Governor has 10 days to veto a bill or 10 days to let it become law without his signature.)

A bill may become law over the Governor's veto if both houses vote to override the Governor's veto by a two-thirds vote of the members present in each house.

When a bill is approved by the Governor or becomes law without his approval or over his veto, it is transmitted to the Secretary of State for assignment of a chapter number in the Idaho Session Laws. The bill then becomes law July 1, except in the case of an emergency clause.

Reapportionment

On March 23, 2001, Idaho's first Commission on Reapportionment convened to establish legislative and congressional district boundaries to be in effect for the next decade beginning with the 2002 elections.

Once every ten years after each census, as required by law, or when directed by the Idaho Supreme Court, Idaho's legislative and congressional districts are redrawn. For the first time, Idaho used a citizens commission to redraw legislative and congressional district boundaries. Before Idaho voters amended the state Constitution in 1994 to create a Reapportionment Commission, redistricting was done by a committee of the Idaho Legislature.

The original and still primary reason for conducting a national census every ten years is to determine how the 435 seats in the United States House of Representatives are to be apportioned among the 50 states. Each state receives its share of the 435 seats in the U.S. House based on the proportion of its population to that of the total U.S. population. For example, the population shifts during the 1990's will result in the Northeastern states losing population and therefore seats in Congress to the Southern and the Western states.

Apportionment determines each state's power, as expressed by the size of their congressional delegation, in Congress and, through the electoral college, directly affects the selection of the president (each state's number of votes in the electoral college equals the number of its representatives and senators in Congress). Like all states, Idaho has two U.S. senators. Based on our 1990 population of 1,006,000 people and our 2000 population of 1,293,953, and relative to the populations of the other 49 states, Idaho will have two seats in the U.S. House of Representatives. Even with the state's 28.5% population increase from 1990 to 2000, Idaho will not be getting a third seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. Assuming Idaho keeps growing at the same rate it did through the decade of the 1990's, it will likely be 30 or 40 years (after 3 or 4 more censuses) before Idaho gets a third congressional seat.

Redistricting is the process of redrawing the boundaries of legislative and congressional districts within each state to achieve population equality among all congressional districts and among all legislative districts. The U.S. Constitution requires this be done for all congressional districts after each decennial census. The Idaho Constitution also requires that this be done for all legislative districts after each census. The democratic principle behind redistricting is "one person, one vote." Requiring that districts be of equal population ensures that every elected state legislator or U.S. congressman represents very close to the same number of people in that state, therefore, each citizen's vote will carry the same weight.

The original and still primary reason for conducting a census every ten years is to apportion the (now) 435 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives among the several states. The census records population changes and is the legally recognized basis for redrawing electoral districts of equal population. In a democracy, it is important for all citizens to have equal representation.

Based on the 1990 census, each Idaho congressman represented close to 503,400 people after the last redistricting ten years ago. As the decade progressed and Idaho experienced rapid growth, particularly in its urban areas, the population of the two congressional districts have grown unevenly and beyond that ideal size. Based on 2000 census figures, our two congressmen will each represent about 647,000 people. Unlike in the U.S. House of Representatives, representation in the U.S. Senate is not based on a state's population. Each state gets two Senate seats regardless of how large or small—population wise—they are. Therefore, each state's two U.S. senators represent all of that state's citizens. The 1990 census determined Idaho's population to be 1,006,749. The 2000 census determined our population to be 1,293,953.

Idaho had 35 legislative districts during the 1990's—the Idaho Constitution says that there can be no less than 30 nor more than 35 legislative districts. Each legislative district is represented by one senator and two representatives. Since Idaho's legislative districts are not further split into two House of Representative districts, both representatives, like the senator, serve the entire district. Based on the 1990 census, each state legislator represented about 28,800 people after the last redistricting ten years ago. As the decade progressed and Idaho experienced rapid growth, particularly in its urban areas, the population of many legislative districts has grown far beyond that ideal size. Based on 2000 census figures, each of the 105 state legislators will represent about 37,000 people to start off the first decade of the third millennium.

Chronology of Commission

March 23, 2001 -- The U.S. Census Bureau delivered the Census 2000 population, race and ethnicity data for Idaho. Idaho's 2000 population: 1,293,953, a 28.5% growth rate from 1990. The growth was concentrated primarily in Kootenai, Canyon and Ada counties with the rest of the state experiencing little change in population.

June 5, 2001 -- Idaho Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa issued order officially forming the Commission.

August 22, 2001 -- Plan C15, a two district congressional redistricting plan is approved by the commission. Plan L66, a thirty five district legislative redistricting plan is approved by the commission.

November 29, 2001 -- in Smith et al v. Idaho Commission on Redistricting et al, a unanimous Idaho Supreme Court ruled Plan L66 unconstitutional. Court directed the Commission to adopt a new legislative redistricting plan.

January 8, 2002 -- Plan L91, a 35 district legislative redistricting plan is adopted by the Commission.

March 1, 2002 -- In Bingham County et al v. Idaho Commission on Redistricting et al, the Idaho Supreme Court ruled Plan L91 violated the U.S. Constitution and ordered the Commission to adopt a new legislative redistricting plan.

March 9, 2002 -- Plan L97, a 35 district legislative redistricting plan is adopted by the Commission.

April 19, 2002 -- Idaho Supreme Court denied the final two petitions challenging Plan L97.

STATE JUDICIAL DISTRICTS

The Supreme Court, as supervisor of the entire court system, establishes statewide rules and policies for the operation of its functions and that of the district courts. The state is divided into seven judicial districts, each encompassing four to ten counties. This regional structure is designed to delegate authority to the judicial districts and to insure their participation in policy decisions while maintaining uniform, statewide rules and procedures. An administrative district judge, chosen by the other district judges in the district, performs a number of administrative duties in addition to handling a judicial case load. The administrative district judge, assisted by a trial court administrator, manages court operations in the district, assigns judges to cases, and coordinates activities of the clerks of the district courts. Final recommendations for local court budgets and facilities are made by the administrative judge, as well as personnel decisions for the district. The administrative judge also jointly supervises the deputy clerks of the district courts. The administrative judge additionally serves as chair of the district magistrates commission, a representative body of county commissioners, mayors, citizens, and private attorneys which, among other things, appoints magistrate judges to their initial terms of office.

IDAHO COURTS

Idaho's court system today is recognized as a model for other states. Constitutional amendments in the early 1960's gave the Idaho Supreme Court management authority over the trial courts, firmly establishing the Supreme Court's rule making powers and providing a method of supervising trial operations. The judicial reform efforts which culminated on January 11, 1971, streamlined Idaho's trial courts by consolidating the various probate, justice and municipal courts into a general jurisdiction District Court, with a division for special types of actions. Thus unified, Idaho's court system is one of the nation's most modern in design.

Supreme Court

The Supreme Court of Idaho is the State's court of last resort. The Court hears appeals from final decisions of the District Court, as well as from orders of the Public Utilities Commission and the Industrial Accident Commission. It has original jurisdiction to hear claims against the state and to issue writs of review, mandamus, certiorari, prohibition and habeas corpus, and all writs necessary to complete exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. The Idaho Supreme Court is one of the few "circuit-riding" supreme courts in the country, and holds terms of Court in Boise, Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston, Twin Falls, Pocatello and Idaho Falls.

The Supreme Court is responsible for the administration and supervision of the trial courts, as well as the operations of the staff of the Courts, the Supreme Court Clerk's Office and the State Law Library. These latter operations are located, along with the Justice's offices and courtrooms, in the Supreme Court Building in Boise.

The Supreme Court consists of five justices who are elected at large, on a nonpartisan ballot, for a term of six years with their terms being staggered so continuity on the Court will be maintained. A candidate for justice must be a qualified elector and a duly qualified attorney-at-law. The chief justice is elected by a majority of the justices, and serves as executive head of the state judiciary.

Court of Appeals

The Idaho Court of Appeals hears appeals from the district courts which are assigned by the Supreme Court. While review of decisions of the Court of Appeals may be sought from the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court is not required to grant the appeal. In most cases, decisions by the Court of Appeals are final.

The Court of Appeals has three judges, who review cases as a panel. While chambered in Boise, the judges may hear appeals arguments anywhere in the state.

Trial Courts

The district court is the trial court of general jurisdiction. A magistrate division exercises limited jurisdiction. The magistrate division, in turn, has a small claims department. While individual judges may serve either in district court cases or magistrate division cases, it is one integrated court.

The district court judges have original jurisdiction in all cases and proceedings. They may issue extraordinary writs, and may also hear appeals from the magistrate division, and certain agencies and boards. There are 39 district court judges, who sit in each of the 44 counties. They are Idaho attorneys, elected by nonpartisan ballot within the judicial district in which they serve. Each district court judge is served by a court reporter who makes a record of all proceedings and testimony in a case.

Judges of the magistrate division may hear civil cases where the amount of damages requested does not exceed $10,000; proceedings in a forcible entry, forcible detainer and unlawful detainer; for the limited enforcement and foreclosure of common law and statutory liens on real or personal property; proceedings in the probate of wills and the administration of estates of decedents and incapacitated persons; juvenile proceedings; criminal misdemeanor offenses; proceedings to prevent the commission of crimes; may issue warrants for the arrest or for searches and seizures; and may conduct preliminary hearings to determine probable cause on felony complaints.

There are 82 magistrate judges, with at least one magistrate judge resident within each county. Magistrate judges also hear small claims cases. These are minor civil cases where $3,000 or less is involved. The small claims department is designed to provide a quick, inexpensive solution to such claims, including cases to recover possession of personal property up to a value of $3,000. No attorneys are allowed in small claims cases, nor are there jury trials. Appeals from small claims decisions are taken to a lawyer magistrate judge. Additionally, seven district trial court administrators assist the Administrative District Judge and the Administrative Director of the Courts with the administration of the district court.

Administrative Director of the Courts

The Administrative Director of the Courts, acting under the supervision and direction of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, has the duties that are specified in Idaho Code Section 1-612. Exercising its inherent power to supervise and administer the unified and integrated judicial system of Idaho, pursuant to Article 5, Section 2 of the Constitution of the State of Idaho, the Supreme Court prescribes the following additional duties of the Administrative Director of the Courts, which shall be performed under the supervision and direction of the Chief Justice:

1. Compile and prepare the annual judicial appropriations request for consideration and approval by the Court.
2. Develop and administer judicial training seminars and educational programs for the judges of Idaho.
3. Supervise the personnel provided by the Supreme Court to assist the Administrative Director.
4. Develop a personnel handbook for employees of the Supreme Court for approval by the Court.
5. Review and recommend to the Court calendar management policies.
6. Advise the news media and the public of official functions of the Court and matters of general interest concerning the courts in Idaho.
7. Liaison for the court system as a whole with the legislature.
8. Carry out any duty delegated from time to time by the Chief Justice.

Supreme Court Clerk

The constitutional office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court performs a variety of important tasks for the judiciary. The Clerk's office administers the processing of appeals and special writs and petitions, and provides other clerical functions of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals, including the preparation of calendars, maintenance of the docket, assuring proper flow of cases and distribution of final opinions. The publication of the Idaho Reports is coordinated by the Supreme Court Clerk's office.

STATE LAW LIBRARY

The Idaho State Law Library was established in 1869 under an Idaho territorial statute. It is operated by the State Law Librarian and is open to the public. The Law Library is primarily a research library, as opposed to a lending library, that is widely used by the judiciary, public officials, lawyers, and students. Its collection of 160,000 print, microfiche and compact disc volumes contains both state and federal law, as well as legal periodicals, digests, citators, encyclopedias, and treatises of law. In addition, the library is a selective depository for U.S. government publications.

Since 1996, patrons of the Idaho State Law Library have been able to search the Library's collection through its On-line Public-Access Catalog (OPAC). The OPAC may be accessed through the Library's Home Page on the Internet (<http://www2.state.id.us/lawlib/lawlib.html>). Publications that are not available at the Law Library can be obtained through interlibrary loan. The Library also offers patrons fee-based access to computer-assisted legal research and photocopy services.

JUDICIAL COUNCIL

The Idaho Judicial Council is empowered by statute to nominate to the Governor persons for appointments to vacancies in the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, and district courts. It may make recommendations to the Supreme Court for the removal, discipline and retirement of judicial officers. It is comprised of seven members: the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who is chairman, a district court judge and two lawyers appointed by the governing board of the Idaho bar with the consent of the state senate and three non-attorney members appointed by the Governor with the consent of the senate. Sitting in its disciplinary capacity, the Council may investigate complaints against justices, court of appeals judges or judges of the district courts or magistrate divisions, and in appropriate cases it may recommend to the Supreme Court the removal, discipline or retirement of a justice, judge, or magistrate judge.

*DANIEL T. EISMANN

Justice Eismann was born in Eugene, Oregon, while his father was enrolled in law school. Two years later his family moved to Homedale, Owyhee County, Idaho, where he was raised. During his high school years, his family moved to Canyon County, and Justice Eismann graduated from Vallivue High School in 1965. He enrolled at the University of Idaho, and two years later he enlisted in the United States Army.

Justice Eismann served two tours of duty in Vietnam, where he volunteered to be a crew chief on a Huey helicopter gunship. His military decorations include two Purple Hearts for being wounded in combat and three medals for heroism.

Upon being honorably discharged from the Army, Justice Eismann returned to the University of Idaho where he completed his undergraduate studies and then enrolled in law school. While in law school he was on the Law Review and participated in moot court competition. Upon graduating cum laude in 1976 from the University of Idaho College of Law, Justice Eismann clerked one year for Justice Donaldson of the Idaho Supreme Court. He then practiced law for nine years in Owyhee and Canyon Counties.

In 1982 Justice Eismann married Sheila Wood. They have a son Matthew and Sheila has two children from a prior marriage Catherine Richardson and Christine Putz.

In 1986 Justice Eismann was appointed as the magistrate judge in Owyhee County. While serving as a magistrate, he also served on the Region III Council for Children and Youth, established and served on a diversion board in Canyon County to handle outside the court system juveniles charged with minor offenses, helped establish Children's Voices, Inc., a nonprofit corporation to recruit, train, and oversee volunteers to act as guardians ad litem for abused and/or neglected children in actions under the Child Protective Act, and volunteered for the Canyon Area United Way.

In 1995 Governor Batt appointed Justice Eismann as a district judge for the Fourth Judicial District. Three years later, his fellow district judges elected him as the Administrative District Judge for the Fourth Judicial District. While serving as a district judge, Justice Eismann worked to start and presided over the Ada County Drug Court. It is proving effective in getting addicts off drugs so that they can rebuild their family relationships and become productive members of the community.

Justice Eismann is a member of the Boise Chapter of the Inns of Court, served on the Bar Exam Preparation Committee for the Idaho Bar Association, and serves on the Ada County Domestic Violence Task Force. Over the years he has also participated either as a presenter or a panelist in numerous education programs for judges and attorneys.

On May 23, 2000, Justice Eismann was elected by the people of Idaho to serve on the Idaho Supreme Court.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT

Idaho's oldest public building is located at Pierce in Clearwater County. The two-story courthouse first served as then Shoshone County's official headquarters. The log courthouse, which included two small jail cells, was constructed in two months during 1862 at a cost of $3,700. The county seat was moved to Murray in 1884 and the building was sold to a citizen for $50. It was later used as a residence, a club meeting house, a part-time chapel and as a school classroom annex. The courthouse was transferred to the Idaho State Historical Society in 1972.

COUNTIES

The primary unit of local government in Idaho is the county. Counties are political subdivisions of the state and serve as an administrative arm of state government in providing services required by state law, such as law enforcement, welfare, and road maintenance. In addition, counties have, in recent years, tended to take on functions of a quasi-municipal character providing urban services such as planning and zoning, water supply and sewage disposal -- functions that have traditionally been provided by incorporated cities.

The organization of county government is uniform throughout the state's forty-four counties; however, this uniformity may change due to a 1994 constitutional amendment that allows for optional forms of county government. The legislature has developed enabling legislation that provides for the optional forms that is available to Idaho's counties. Citizens in the counties have the opportunity to decide whether they want to continue with the current form of government or change to another form.

For further information on Idaho counties, contact the Idaho Association of Counties, 700 W. Washington, Box 1623 Boise, ID 83701; Phone: (208)345-9126; FAX: (208)345-0379; Internet: www.idcounties.org

CITIES

Cities are voluntarily organized and may be incorporated under the general laws of the state by the people living within their boundaries. Cities are not primarily an administrative arm of state government but are local units which, for the most part, perform functions that are exclusively local.

Since 1967, all incorporated places in the state are designated simply as "cities" with no further classification. The constitution authorizes the legislature to enact general laws that apply to all cities in the state. There are 200 incorporated cities in Idaho ranging in population from 185,787 in Boise to 10 at Warm River in Fremont County.

Three Idaho cities, Boise, Lewiston, and Bellevue were granted charters from the territorial legislature rather than incorporate under the general laws of the state which govern all other cities. Boise, in 1961, and Lewiston, in 1969, abandoned their charters and joined Idaho's other cities under the general law governing municipal corporations. Bellevue, located in Blaine County, remains the only city in the state with a territorial charter. The town does not operate under the State Municipal Code, and the state legislature must approve any changes to the charter including annexations.

Most Idaho cities operate under a mayor-council form of government, but all cities have the option to adopt a council-manager plan (where a professionally trained city manager administers the day-to-day needs) if they so desire. Only three cities, Lewiston, Twin Falls and McCall, utilize the council-manager form. On June 26, 1985, residents of the city of Pocatello voted to change to a mayor-council form after nearly thirty-five years under a council-manager system.

An extensive list of city officials may be obtained from the Association of Idaho Cities, 3100 S. Vista Ave, Ste 310, Boise ID 83705; Phone: (208) 344-8594; Fax: (208) 344-8677; Internet: <http://www.idahocities.org/>

TAXING DISTRICTS

Other local units of government in Idaho include school districts, numerous road districts, cemetery districts, fire protection districts, irrigation districts, junior college districts and other single-purpose taxing units. All of these units have limited taxing powers but are required to certify their requirements to the county commissioners who must include these needs in the collections made by county tax collectors.

The County Clerk, Assessor, Prosecuting Attorney, Treasurer, Coroner and Sheriff are elected for four year terms. County Commissioners are elected for terms of two and four years with their terms being staggered. *Denotes chairman of the county commission.

Election Campaign Fund

The Idaho Election Campaign Fund, Title 34, Chapter 25, Idaho Code, permits every individual whose income tax liability for any taxable year is $1.00 or more to designate that $1.00 be paid into the election campaign fund, either earmarked to a party of his choice; or to be placed in the general election fund. The fund is divided as follows: (1) Each party receives the amount of the fund which has been designated by the contributing individuals.

(2) 90% of the remainder is distributed to the central committees of the state's political parties in proportion to the number of votes cast for each party's candidate for governor in the last gubernatorial election; however, no party may receive more than 50% of this amount.

(3) Any portion of this 90% which is not distributed, along with the 10% which has been reserved, is distributed in equal portions to all major, minor and new political parties which have qualified candidates for elective state office for the ballot in the next general election. This distribution is made on the Tuesday following the first Monday of August in each even-numbered year.

The Idaho Election Campaign Fund was distributed as follows in 2002:

Party	Designated	Undesignated	Total
Democrat	$24,813.00	$9,234.00	$34,047.00

Education in Idaho

The Constitution of the State of Idaho provides for the creation of the State Board of Education, which is responsible for the general supervision of state educational institutions and the public school system. The constitution also provides for a Board of Regents of the University of Idaho; by statute, these boards are the same.

The State Board of Education is composed of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and seven members appointed by the governor to serve five-year terms. The Superintendent of Public Instruction is an ex officio, voting board member. The board:

- Sets statewide policy for the public schools, grades K-12.
- Governs and hires chief executive officers for the Division of Professional-Technical Education, the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Idaho Public Television, Boise State University, Idaho State University, Lewis-Clark State College and the University of Idaho.
- Approves programs and submits state budget requests for the two community colleges, North Idaho College and the College of Southern Idaho, which are governed by local boards of trustees.
- Appoints members to the board of trustees that govern the State Library and State Historical Society.

Indirectly and/or cooperatively with other agencies, the State Board of Education has responsibilities for other facets of the total educational programs of the state. Among these responsibilities are driver training programs, the school lunch program, the educational program for exceptional children (handicapped and gifted), private school and college organizations, and the regulation of private technical, trade and business colleges.

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction is the chief public school officer and is responsible for the overall coordination of work in the State Department of Education. It is the obligation of the superintendent to carry out the policies and directives of the State Board and recommend policy to the Board for educational improvement. The Superintendent carries out the mandates of the legislature as they relate to public school education. The Superintendent is responsible for the total education program of approximately 244,403 students in Idaho's 113 school districts.

The State Department of Education has three recognized functions: service, leadership and regulation.

Endowment Funds

Idaho's endowment funds for education are derived from the "grant lands" given by the federal government to the state when Idaho was admitted to the Union. These lands are not the same as "public lands" which belong to the U.S. Government.

All revenue obtained from the sale of "grant lands" (authorized by the state constitution), and the sale of minerals, lumber and easements on these lands is placed in the endowment funds. In addition, revenue received from escheat estates and gifts also goes into the endowment funds as do five percent of the revenues collected by the federal government from the sale of public lands. Receipts from the harvest of forest products form the bulk of revenue obtained from "grant lands."

Endowment or "grant lands" funds form an everlasting sacred trust. Interest income from the fund is used primarily for education.

In fiscal year 2000, $48.7 million dollars in interest income was distributed to endowment institutions. The vast majority of these funds is directly attributed to the Idaho Department of Lands activities. In the beginning, funds only could be invested in farm mortgages and state or United States bonds. Today, however, permanent endowment funds can be loaned by the Idaho Investment Board through the Department of Finance on U.S., state, county, city, village or school district bonds, state warrants, or corporate bonds.

Forest management activities on "grant lands" have become fully integrated with various other land-use activities. Management and protection of the forest resource is a multiple-use program designed to derive the greatest benefits of revenue, total resource perpetuation and public use.

State Colleges and Universities

Boise State University

President: Dr. Robert Kustra, Boise, Idaho 83725 (208) 426-1491

Internet Site: www.boisestate.edu/

Degrees Granted: Doctorate degree in education; Master's degrees in 33 disciplines; Bachelor's degrees in 63 undergraduate disciplines; Associate's degrees in 6 disciplines; Associate of Applied Science in 21 fields; Technical Certificates in 26 fields.

Founded in 1932 by the Episcopal Church, Boise State has grown from private status to a public taxing district to a comprehensive state university in the Idaho system of higher education. It was named a university in 1974. The university is fully accredited by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges, and further accreditation is held in several programs, including business, education, music, nursing, social work and construction management. Centered in one of the most dynamic cities in the Northwest, Boise State's primary academic emphasis areas are related to its location, and include Business, Social Sciences, Public Affairs, the Performing Arts, Education, and Engineering. Programs in Health Sciences, Sciences, Liberal Arts, Engineering, and Applied Technology are offered.

Majors are offered in the colleges of Arts and Sciences; Business and Economics; Engineering; Applied Technology; Health Sciences; Education; Social Sciences and Public Affairs; and Graduate Studies; and the school of Social Work.

General educational and cultural opportunities are offered to the public during the year through BSU's theatre and music seasons, lecture series, popular concerts, art exhibits, and special workshops.

BSU occupies a 110-acre campus just a few blocks from the heart of downtown Boise. Located on the banks of the scenic Boise River, the University's 60 major buildings provide for the educational, recreational and housing requirements of the students. BSU also operates a satellite campus in Canyon County and offers courses at the College of Southern Idaho, Gowen Field, Mountain Home Air Force Base and other locations in the Treasure Valley.

Campus facilities include The Pavilion, capacity 12,500; the Velma V. Morrison Center for the Performing Arts, 2,000; and Bronco Stadium, 30,000. The Hemingway Western Studies Center is a focus for programs on western life and culture, and the Albertsons Library includes the Frank Church and Cecil D. Andrus Collections, and the Warren McCain Collection on Western Life.

Public broadcasting services are provided by the KBSU Radio network, which is affiliated with both American and National public radio, BSU also offers courses via cable television, microwave compressed video, and computers.

Because Boise State is in the governmental, medical and business heart of Idaho, students and faculty interact with school districts, health care institutions, government agencies, and corporations. Boise State has the largest evening program in Idaho, provides several short courses to meet special needs and sponsors one of the largest internship programs in the Northwest.

The BSU faculty is especially active in research and public service that benefits Idaho and its citizens. The Idaho Small Business Development Center, for example, helps businesses throughout the state through consulting, workshops, and other services. The University includes research centers in geophysics, raptor biology, geology, education, electrical engineering, public administration and psychology.

Through all of its programs, Boise State University is fulfilling its commitment to the State of Idaho by providing quality teaching, research and public service to all its citizens.

The College of Southern Idaho is a two-year comprehensive community college serving south central Idaho. While 55 percent of the studentbody comes from the Community College District of Twin Falls and Jerome counties, 86 percent of the students are from the eight-county Magic Valley service area. The remaining 14 percent are from other Idaho counties, other states and countries. With over 80 percent headcount increase in academic enrollment since 1990, CSI is the fastest growing public institution of higher education in Idaho.

Doors opened at CSI in 1965 and since that time, the college has acquired a 300-acre campus with 15 major buildings with an assessed valuation of approximately $60 million.

The College is comprehensive in nature and has a number of purposes. It provides university parallel curricula in a number of areas, a program of general education, vocational-technical curricula in seventeen fields, continuing and adult education and community services. Outreach centers are operated in Burley, Hailey and Gooding.

Students may qualify for either an Associate of Science or an Associate of Arts degree and graduates of the PN or ADN-RN programs are prepared to take the national exam for licensure. The excellent instructional programs are complemented by equally good programs in cultural, social and athletic pursuits.

President: Dr. Richard Bowen, Pocatello, ID. 83209 (208) 236-3440

Internet Site: www.isu.edu

Degrees Granted: Associate, Baccalaureate, Master's, Educational Specialist Certificates, Doctoral, Vocational Certificates

Founded in Pocatello in 1901 as the Academy of Idaho, what is now Idaho State University was renamed Idaho Technical Institute in 1915 and became the Southern Branch of the University of Idaho in 1927. In 1947, it was reorganized as Idaho State College and was awarded university status by the Idaho Legislature in 1963. Credits awarded by ISU are accepted at all recognized colleges and universities in the United States.

Today, ISU enrolls more than 12,500 students each semester in more than 200 top-flight certificate and degree programs in the colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business, Education, Engineering, Health Professions, and Pharmacy, the School of Applied Technology, and the Graduate School. As the state's designated leader for education in the health professions, ISU trains health-care professionals in fields ranging from dental hygiene and dietetics to nursing, physical therapy and radiology, as well as offering a residency for physicians specializing in family practice. The Pocatello Family Medicine clinic operated in conjunction with Bannock Medical Regional Medical Center, offers resident physicians and other health care students opportunities for clinical experience.

ISU enrolls more than 2,500 students each semester in 47 master's and 11 doctoral programs, including doctor of philosophy, doctor of education and doctor of arts degrees. ISU pioneered the doctor of arts degree, which emphasizes excellence in college teaching in interdisciplinary programs in English, biology, mathematics and political science. In addition, a doctoral degree in nuclear science and engineering and an interdisciplinary master's degree in hazardous waste management are offered in conjunction with the University of Idaho and the Idaho National Engineering and Environmental Laboratory.

Idahoans who cannot come to the Pocatello campus can receive ISU educational services through a variety of innovative means. The Idaho State University/University of Idaho Center for Higher Education at Idaho Falls offers many complete programs, including the first two years of any degree program at an Idaho public institution, to residents of the Upper Snake River Valley. Both daytime and night courses are offered, as well as the new "weekend college" program that offers classes on Fridays and Saturdays to accommodate working people and other nontraditional students. ISU also offers academic programs at outreach center at Twin Falls and Boise and delivers regular university courses, continuing education classes and special programs for high school students to outlying communities via sophisticated two-way audio-video technology.

In addition to its outstanding academic and applied technology classroom and laboratory facilities, ISU is also home to the Holt Arena, the first indoor stadium on a U.S. college campus; the Oboler Library, which houses almost three-quarters of a million books and other items; and the Idaho Museum of Natural History. The ISU Research and Business Park is home to the ISU Center for Business Research; the Idaho Veterans Home, operated in conjunction with the State of Idaho; the new offices of the Southeastern District Health Department; and the newly opened Idaho Accelerator Center, operated by ISU in cooperation with the Department of Energy and the INEEL and housing particle accelerators for nuclear research and applications in medicine, agriculture and industry. The Research and Business Park also helped provide for a major expansion of the AMI plant and helped attract Ballard Medical to Pocatello, projects that have major economic consequences for Pocatello and the state.

ISU plans to break ground in the next year for the L.E. and Thelma Stephens Performing Arts Center, a $25 million state-of-the-art venue for drama, and dance events and instruction that will be funded by private donations raised during ISU's first-ever capital campaign, a centerpiece of ISU's centennial celebration of 2001-2002.

Founded on November 12, 1888 when the Bannock Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints established the Bannock Stake Academy. The school has been known as Fremont Stake Academy, Ricks Academy, Ricks Normal College, and Ricks College. As BYU-Idaho, we are still affiliated with The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. GLOSSARY OF TERMS

- Fiscal Year: The accounting year used by the state which runs from July 1 of a given year through June 30 of the following year.
- Appropriation: 1. Annual fixed budgets that state officers, departments and institutions may not exceed. 2. That portion of the total state budget allocated by the Legislature to a state agency or program for one fiscal year.
- Classification of funds:
 1. General: The state's primary source of revenue. In round numbers, one-half of the General Fund comes from the personal income tax, one-third from the sales tax, and one-tenth from the corporate income tax. The remainder comes from taxes on alcohol and tobacco and a variety of other taxes and certain licenses and fees not specifically appropriated to any other fund. General tax revenues are used to finance the operations of state government, such as education and prisons, that do not have their own dedicated source of revenue.
 2. Dedicated/Other: Represents revenue received from a specified source or sources, and disbursed for a specific function or government as required by law. For example, the Department of Fish & Game receives no General Fund money. Instead, the revenue generated by the sale of fishing and hunting licenses and tags is dedicated exclusively to paying for the department's fish and wildlife management and activities.
 3. Federal: Identifies moneys from the federal government for specified state administered services.
- Annual Percent Change: The rate at which the 1993 appropriation would have to change on an annual basis to reach the 2003 appropriation.
- Total Percent Change: The quantity of the 2003 appropriation minus the 1993 appropriation divided by the 1993 appropriation.

Bureau of Land Management

The BLM manages 11.9 million acres of public land in Idaho, most of which is concentrated in the southern part of the State. Every Idaho county contains some BLM-managed land, which accounts for 22 percent of the total Federal acreage within Idaho's borders. Idaho's public lands feature alpine forests, rolling rangeland, and spectacular canyonlands with premier desert white-water streams--the Owyhee, Bruneau, Jarbidge, and Lower Salmon.

Idaho's public lands are rich in environmental, historical, recreational, and economic values. These lands, with historical features that include some of the best remaining original ruts of the Oregon Trail, will attract millions of recreational visits. Many of these visits will be made by the outdoor sportsmen of Idaho, where about one of every three persons owns a fishing or hunting license. BLM-managed lands also support the traditional commodity activities of grazing, mining, and timber production, which are vital to Idaho's rural economies.

Major Land Areas, Sites and Rivers Designated by the U.S. Government

NATIONAL PARKS AND MONUMENTS

The first National Park (Yellowstone) was designated in 1872. The National Park Service was created in 1916 to advance a new concept of land use to conserve the scenery, natural, historic, and wildlife in perpetuity for the benefit and enjoyment of the people. The U.S. Congress establishes these Parks and Sites.

NATIONAL RECREATION AREAS

Congress in 1962 passed the National Recreation Area Act to help preserve and expand outdoor recreation opportunities throughout the nation.

WILDERNESS AREAS

In 1964, Congress passed the Wilderness Act to set aside certain lands from development and to preserve their natural character. The Wilderness Act defines wilderness as an area of undeveloped Federal land, usually 5,000 acres or more, in a substantially natural condition. It is without permanent improvements or human habitation, and has outstanding opportunities for solitude or a primitive and unconfined type of recreation. Such an area may contain ecological, geological, or other features or scientific, educational, scenic, or historical values.

WILD AND SCENIC RIVERS

In 1968, Congress authorized the Wild and Scenic Rivers System Act which permits State Legislatures and the U.S. Congress to designate certain rivers as wild and scenic to preserve outstandingly remarkable scenic, recreational, geologic, fish and wildlife, historic, cultural, or other similar values in a natural and free-flowing condition for the benefit and enjoyment of present and future generations.

NATIONAL NATURAL AREAS AND LANDMARKS

In 1972 Congress directed the Secretary of Interior to investigate and inventory areas which could be designated National Natural Landmarks and for possible inclusion into the National Parks System.

Birds of Prey Natural Area

Established: 1971. Contains the densest concentration of raptors in the world. Area expanded to include desert floor above canyon to protect bird's food supply.

Parts of Ada, Elmore and Owyhee counties.

National Natural Landmarks

Big Southern Butte

The butte is composed of light-colored silicic volcanic rocks and stands nearly 760 meters above the low relief surface of the Eastern Snake River Plain. The site is an ecological "island" supporting vegetation such as lodgepole pine (Pinus contorta), aspen (Populus sp.), Douglas fir (Pseudotsuga menziesii), and manzanita (Arctostaphylos sp.) not common to this region.

Big Springs

The springs emanate from rhyolite lava flows of the Madison Plateau, which comprise one of the largest rhyolite lava fields in the United States. Big Springs is the only first magnitude spring in the United States that issues forth from rhyolitic lava flows.

Cassia Silent City of Rocks

Located in the Cotterel Range of south central Idaho, the site contains monolithic landforms created by exfoliation processes on exposed massive granitic plutons. The site contains the best example of bornhardts in this region.

Crater Rings

Crater Rings are two closely adjacent pit craters that provide one of the few examples of this type in the continental United States. The crater rings are larger than, but similar to, pit craters along Chain of Craters Road on the southeast flank of Kilauea Volcano, Hawaii.

Great Rift System

The Great Rift System of the eastern Snake River Plain is a dramatic and outstanding example of tectonic forces in the earth's crust. The site also has biological interest as an example of primary vegetation succession on very young lava flows.

Hagerman Fauna Sites

The site contains the world's richest known deposits of Upper Pliocene age terrestrial fossils.

Hell's Half Acre Lava Field

The lava field is an outstanding example of a single event, single process geologic feature that is fully preserved and fully exposed. Fractures, depressions, and small lava caves are common features on the flow, which otherwise has a fairly smooth surface.

Hobo Cedar Grove Botanical Area

This landmark contains a grove of old growth western red cedar in near natural condition. Two communities are represented: mainly western red cedar (Thuja plicata)/Oregon boxwood (Pachistima myrsinites) on the uplands and western red cedar/ladyfern (Athyrium filix-femina) on the lowland portions of the site.

Menan Buttes

The site is an outstanding example of a glassy tuff cone, which is found in only a few places in the world. The buttes are composed of small fragments of basaltic glass formed by sudden chilling of magma.

Niagara Springs

The site is one of a number of large spring sets where the Snake River Plain aquifer drains into the Snake River from the northern cliffs of its canyon. It is illustrative of the enormous volume of water transmitted through this aquifer.

Sheep Rock

The site provides perhaps the best view of the horizontally layered lavas that represent successive flows of the Columbia River Basalt. The Columbia River Basalt covers an area of some 518,000 square kilometers in Idaho, Washington, and Oregon. It represents one of the great lava extrusions of geologic time.

National Historic Landmarks

U.S. Assay Office:
210 Main Street
Boise 83702
Established:
October 15, 1976

The Boise Assay Office was erected by the U.S. Government in 1870-71. The building is a symbol of the importance of mining in the political, social, economic and legal development of Idaho and the Far West. In 1972 the Idaho State Historical Society assumed ownership, it is presently being used as offices and a museum.

Cataldo Mission:
Clark County
Established:
May 10, 1989

Built around 1850 by Jesuit missionaries and Coeur d'Alene Indians, this log and adobe church with Baroque and Greek Revival details is the oldest surviving church in the Pacific Northwest and also the oldest structure in Idaho. The mission restoration project was completed in 1975 and is now a museum administered by the Idaho Department of Parks and Recreation.

City of Rocks:
Near Almo in
Cassia County
Established:
October 15, 1966

One of the great natural landmarks on the California Trail, one of the few places in this country where Precambrian rock is exposed. After 1846 this route was sometimes referred to as the "Applegate Trail" used by Oregon-bound emigrants. The area is managed by the Idaho Department of Parks and Recreation, the U.S. Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management along with some private ownership.

Experimental Breeder Reactor #1
Near Arco in Butte
County
Established:
October 16, 1966

On the EBR-1 produced the first usable amounts of electricity created by nuclear means. Operation continued at EBR-1 until 1964. Administered by the Energy Research and Development Administration. The National Park Service conducts tours there from May through September.

Fort Hall:
Bannock County
Established:
October 15, 1966

Built by Nathaniel Wyeth as a trading post in 1834, then sold to the Hudson's Bay Company in 1837. The fort is remembered for its association with overland emigration on the Oregon-California Trails and as the most important trading post in the Snake River Valley. A stone monument on the Fort Hall Indian Reservation marks the site of the former fort.

Lemhi Pass:
Salmon Ntl. Forest
Established:
October 15, 1966

Located on the Idaho-Montana border in the Salmon and Beaverhead National Forests. This is the point where the Lewis and Clark expedition crossed the Continental Divide leaving the United States and entering into Spanish territory.

Lolo Trail:
Clearwater & Lolo
National Forests
Established:
October 16, 1966

The most difficult stretch of the entire route traveled by Lewis and Clark on their expedition to the Pacific in 1805. This trail was used by the Nez Perce Indians on their trips to the buffalo country.

Weippe Prairie:
Clearwater County
Established:
October 15, 1966

The prairie contains three historic campsites of the Lewis and Clark expedition during their west and eastbound journeys. It was here that Lewis and Clark first met the Nez Perce Indians, who proved to be most helpful to the expedition.

Idaho Historic Sites

The Historic Sites program promotes Idaho history through the preservation, maintenance, and educational use of Idaho's historic properties. The Society owns five significant properties, most managed locally by volunteer organizations.

Old Idaho Penitentiary

Boise. Visitors can take a guided or self-guided walking tour within the wall of the 1870-1973 prison. 208/368-6080

Stricker Ranch and Rock Creek Store

Hansen. The Rock Creek Store was the only supply point on the Oregon Trail between Fort Hall and Boise from 1865 to 1897. 208/423-4000

Lorenzo Hill Hatch House

Franklin. This two-story stone building was built in 1874 and is an exceptionally pure example of the Greek Revival architectural style. The structure is unrestored.

Relic Hall

Franklin. A 1937 log and stone lodge that houses artifacts relating to the history of the area.

Pierce Courthouse

Pierce. Idaho's first courthouse was built in 1862 to serve Shoshone County, then in Washington Territory. The courthouse has been partially restored and contains exhibits interpreting the area's gold mining, settlement, and transportation history.

U.S. Assay Office

Boise. Opened in 1872 and by 1895 the annual deposits reached more than a million dollars. By 1917 the Idaho mines had yielded some $400 million in gold, silver and lead.

Hunting and Fishing

The Department of Fish and Game is responsible for management and regulation of the use of fish and wildlife resources of the state. The Department is governed by the six-member Idaho Fish and Game Commission. Commissioners are appointed by the governor for staggered four-year terms and are subject to confirmation by the Idaho Senate. The commission system was established by Idaho's first successful voter initiative in 1938.

Field operations are organized by seven regions statewide and the various functions common to all regions are organized into bureaus (Fisheries, Enforcement, Wildlife, etc.) with statewide coordination from the state office in Boise.

Nonresident licenses and tags may now be purchased using credit cards by calling 1-800-554-8685. Information is available at 1-800-635-7820.

Public outreach, involvement and education are an important function. Legislative action in 1980 made hunter education mandatory. More than 1,000 volunteer instructors reach about 6,500 students per year. A program in landowner relations geared to promoting cooperation between hunters, anglers and landowners encourages ethical behavior as a way to increase access and sporting opportunity on private land. A volunteer coordinator organizes groups and individuals willing to give time to projects in the public interest.

The quarterly Fish and Game News reaches 270,000 with timely hunting/fishing/habitat news; Inside on the Outdoors, a live call-in talk show Monday evenings on KBOI radio in Boise and KSEI in Pocatello gives one-third of a million listeners a chance to reach the Director; and Incredible Idaho, a monthly half-hour television program is produced in cooperation with KTVB in Boise and viewed statewide.

The Habitat Improvement Program utilizes duck and upland game bird stamp funds to construct and maintain habitat improvement projects on public land and assist private landowners with wildlife projects on their land.

The Morrison-Knudsen Nature Center at state headquarters, 600 South Walnut in Boise, began as a habitat demonstration area and was enhanced as a Centennial project during 1990 to include a river observatory complete with underwater viewing of a mountain stream. A learning center has displays, projection room, and computer link to a regional river information system. The Nature Center hosts school groups and individuals amounting to about 1,000 visitors per day. Also a Centennial year project, identification and directional signs guide the public to more than 250 access sites statewide, and a companion booklet lists them by area and gives directions.
